FRENCH SPEAKING CITIZENS WILL HAVE MAYORALTY CANDIDATE

Pawtucketville Social Club Believes Time Now Ripe For Presentation of French Speaking Candidate—Men Mentioned Include Joseph Legare, Albert Bergeron, Dr. Mignault and Maurice Lambert

All indications point to the fact that the French speaking people of Lowell will have a candidate in the mayoralty fight. This is evidenced from action taken last night by the social club of Pawtucketville, when at a meeting of that organization a resolution was passed to the effect that the time was now opportune for the presentation of a candidate for the office of the mayor of Lowell. NEW SCHOOL FOR THE SOUTH END

School Board Chairman and Superintendent Urge Action by City Council

Favor One Large Building to Centralize School Activities of District

Need of a new elementary school in the South End district, one capable of caring for grammar and primary grade pupils now distributed in five smaller schools of the section and at least of size sufficient to contain 30 rooms, was advocated before the city council last night by James E. Riley, chairman of the school committee, and Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent.

That their remarks created a profound impression was apparent and if the money had been available—and approximately $250,000 was mentioned—the council would have rigged it unanimously and instantly. A new building would supplant the century-old Edison building, but it would be erected nearer Bosford square than on the Edison site for the purpose of centralization of school activities in the district. Some time ago the school committee recommended to the council that $250,000 be appropriated for a new school in the South End district, and the appearance of Mr. Riley and Mr. Molloy was to personally present the committee's views to the council. Little could be done on the question, except to refer it to the committee on appropriations and finance, and

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD LOWELL BRIDE

Judge Thomas J. Enright was confronted with a peculiar situation in the clerk's office of the district court this morning, when Algeria Sales Calderina, 15, and Antonio Fernando Ferrelira, 35, petitioned his honor for a permit to secure a marriage license. In view of the evident immaturity of the young girl, the judge was at first reluctant to take action on the matter, but because of the seriousness of the couple's intentions and upon the consent of the parents, the dispensation was granted and the happy couple left the station to present themselves before the clerk of the marriage license bureau in city hall.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM

Exercises at High School This Morning in Observance of Armistice Day

The high school's Armistice day program was carried out this morning under the direction of Mary G. Joyce of the faculty. The program included many musical selections, readings and exercises in keeping with the spirit of the day.

James Conway of the faculty gave a little on the dollar day drive and announced that the results were most satisfactory. He told of some of the things proposed with the money obtained. A storm of applause greeted his act when he displayed a sample blanket such as has been purchased for the use of football team members. The blanket is grey in color with a large letter "L" upon it.

It was announced that Louis Wolf won the $5 prize offered by the Marion studio to the student who sold the most tickets for the dollar day game. He sold 17 tickets. Eleanor Trull won the second prize of a $2.50 gold piece, contributed by Edward J. Cooney of the gas company. She sold 44 tickets.

TOMORROW: NOT A HOLIDAY

STORES OPEN AS USUAL

The stores will be open all day tomorrow. The banks will function as usual tomorrow. The newspapers will be published tomorrow. In brief, tomorrow will be a normal business day.

Tomorrow, Nov. 11, is Armistice Day, but since it is not a legal holiday, business will go on as usual. The impression has gained ground that the day will be celebrated as a holiday. To clear up this uncertainty, Gov. Cox has explained that the power to declare a legal holiday rests with the Legislature, and that his recent proclamation simply asks that there be a general observance of the day, so that its significance in Massachusetts may be properly appreciated.

Remember, therefore, that:—
You can do your shopping tomorrow as usual.
You may conduct business at the bank as usual.
And all the newspapers will be printed as usual.

SUIT AGAINST HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING COMMISSION GOES TO MASTER

Supreme Judicial Court Will Appoint Master—Judge Braley Denies Demurrer Filed By Counsel For Contractor—Motion to Allow Signers of Petition to Withdraw Their Names is Allowed

(Special to The Sun) BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The action brought against the city of Lowell and the high school building commission by Dennis E. Conners and other Lowell taxpayers, seeking to restrain the city from paying any more money, under the contract for the erection of the new high school building to Daniel H. Walker, the contractor, will be heard before a master to be appointed early next week by the supreme judicial court. This decision was reached this morning by Judge Braley after he had heard and denied the demurrer filed and asked for by counsel for the defendant, Boyd Jones of Boston, who represents Mr. Walker. Although Judge Braley overruled the demurrer he will allow the defendants to set up, in their answer to be filed on Monday, a defense of laches, or unnecessary delay. When the case goes before a master it will be argued only on facts as Judge

BEGINS INQUIRY ON INCREASE IN COAL

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—State Emergency Fuel Administrator James J. Phelan, when informed yesterday afternoon that the Metropolitan Coal company of this city will add $1 a ton to the price of hard coal, addressed a letter to the company in which he expressed his surprise and asked for reasons why the increase was made.

To the reporters Mr. Phelan said that until he has the facts he can make no comment. He did add, however, that data he has had compiled shows the amount of anthracite being shipped to New England is increasing.

In a statement given out, Mr. Phelan said:

"The New England all-rail movement of anthracite, as indicated by the daily average number of coal cars passing through the gateway, showed an average of 150 cars a day for the month of September. The October daily average was 160 cars and for the first seven days of November it was 165 cars.

"The tide-water receipts for Massachusetts for the month of September were 35,748 net tons and a very substantial increase was shown for October. In the latter month, with the price of Lynn and Fall River not reported, the total was 125,758 net tons. Any boost by railroads in the price of coal is unwarranted and unjustifiable."

In the opinion of Mayor Curley, communicated to Mr. Phelan in a letter yesterday protesting the reported increase of $1 per ton.

WHIST AND CONCERT

There was a large attendance at the whist and concert given last evening in St. Louis' parish hall under the auspices of the Massachusetts Mills band. The affair was given under the direction of L. N. Hubbard, band conductor, and proved very enjoyable. During the evening, while the guests were competing in the card game, the band rendered pleasing selections, and while the judges were looking over the score cards, there were instrumental and vocal selections by Annette Mauseau and Louis Grier. Miss Reitha Brodeur presiding at the piano.

TALKED ON THE BIBLE

In his fifth lecture on "Modern Understanding of the Bible" at the South parish house last night, Rev. Arthur C. McElferty, Jr., discussed the contrast between the biblical and modern views on Jesus. "The thought of Christ as the symbol of God in the platform on which men and women of all creeds may meet," he said.

TO LAY CORNERSTONE

Ceremonies at Nebraska's New $5,000,000 Capital on Armistice Day

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 10.—Armistice day observances in Nebraska this year will be centered in the impressive ceremonies at the site of the new five-million dollar Nebraska state house, which will be dedicated in cornerstone laying ceremonies to the memory of Nebraska's sons who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war.

The details of the exercises will be in charge of the leading military and civic organizations of the state which have arranged the opening of the ceremonies with the most resplendent parade ever witnessed on Lincoln streets. Among prominent persons who are on the program for addresses are National Commander Alvin Owsley of the American Legion, Texas; Gen. John J. Pershing, Nebraska; and Gov. S. H. McKelvie of Nebraska, all of whom will take an active part in laying the cornerstone, assisting the veterans of all wars.

Many thousands of citizens from all parts of Nebraska and adjoining states are expected to attend the ceremonies.

GREAT POTASH FIELD MAY BE FOUND

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 10.—Potash beds large enough to supply the entire American demand for fertilizer and perhaps provide a surplus for export are likely to be discovered in western Texas, according to H. W. Hoots, now an instructor in the department of geology in the University of Kansas. For the past year Mr. Hoots, as a member of the United States geological survey, carried on investigations in the prospective fields.

In a territory extending approximately 125 miles north and south and an equal distance east and west along the new Mexican border, strong indications have been found of what is perhaps the largest salt bed in the world. Survey indicates approximately 15,000 square miles of prairie country underlain with a bed of rock salt that ranges from 40 to 1500 feet in thickness. This salt bed lies at a depth of 500 to 2500 feet, making it convenient for mining operations. The conditions which are favorable to the formation of salt are favorable also to the formation of potash.

Four test wells are to be sunk this winter to get accurate figures about the underlying strata. One well already is under way and the core is being preserved to show the thickness of the different materials penetrated. If these test wells result as expected in showing the value of the salt deposits, other tests will be made to determine the limits of the field and the location of its richer parts.

Minor test wells at Means, River, Bryant, Duran, McDowell and St. Rita have produced the raw potash but not on a production basis.

"If this potash field proves what is expected," said Mr. Hoots, "it will mean that the United States has found an internal source of supply for much not only as a soil fertilizer but also in the manufacture of soap, glass, explosives and medical supplies. Comparatively little potash is now being obtained in the United States, and what there is now comes from western Nebraska, South Lake, California, and the great salt lake region in Utah.

JAPANESE UNIONS FAIL TO JOIN FEDERATION

OSAKA, Japan, Nov. 10.—An attempt to form a federation of the labor unions of Japan has ended in failure, owing to the inability of the socialists, who are in control of some of the unions, to agree with the regular unionists, who are opposed to a federation called here for Oct. 1 ended in a row in which the police took a hand, eventually arresting a number of the socialists.

The Nippon Tōdō Sodomei, the socialist wing, wanted a federation with central control, while their opponents, the Kaimei Sodomei, wanted local autonomy. On the discussion of the rival resolutions an outcry arose, which threatened to develop into a free fight when the police intervened and carried the large lot of bottles and stones, but soon got the upper hand, cleared the hall and took the ring-leaders to jail, whence they later were released.

However, this fight between the two elements in the labor movement is said to be only one reason for the failure of the laborites to advance their cause. There has been in Japan for a great number of years an organization known as the Kokusai-kai, which in some respects might be likened to the Fascist of Italy. This society, which wields great power, is opposed to all revolutionary movements and is in the habit of taking "direct" action when called upon. It is backed by the great labor contractors, who supply labor in the built throughout the country. When a strike is called in a given industry, this organization often is asked to intervene in the interest of the prevailing order of things and usually it can induce the workers, by one means or another, to return to work. It is strongly opposed to labor unions, and uses its influence to prevent them from gaining membership.

At a meeting of the Nippon Tōdō Sodomei, after the failure to form a federation, a protest was entered against the outrages committed by the members of the Kokusai-kai upon members of the Sodomei at a recent meeting held at Kyoto.

Another cause of the lack of strength of the union at the present time is the business depression, among skilled workmen, especially those in the engineering trade at present being out of work.

RATTLESNAKES GROW WILD NEAR CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The oft-debated question of whether rattlesnakes grow wild in the vicinity of Chicago has been settled by Dr. Frank M. Woodruff, curator of the Chicago Academy of Sciences, in Lincoln park, with the acquisition of a specimen captured this summer in the sand dunes at Miller beach, near Gary, Ind.

The rattler, a three-foot female with six rattlers and a batten, belongs to the prairie type, or Crotalus Contortrix. Shortly after reaching the museum she gave birth to seven young snakes. Two died, one occupied and the other four, now some six or eight inches long, already have demonstrated on white mice that they are as deadly venomous as their mother.

After completing a study of the habits of the mother and her young, Dr. Woodruff plans to dispatch them and make plaster casts for the exhibit of reptiles from the environs of Chicago.

The llama, noted as a beast of burden, in certain parts of Latin America, can travel only 12 to 16 miles daily, or much more slowly than its relative, the camel.

The French foreign office was still unable this noon to name the definite time for the meeting, but expected to be able to do so before the day was over.

from the majority contest by the fact that he took out nomination papers today for councilor-at-large. It is also said on good authority that Dr. Migault will not be a candidate this fall. From an authentic source comes the information that a committee of 15 men has already interviewed Mr. Legare and that the result of the interview has not produced anything definite. It was intimated, however, that if Mr. Legare could make arrangements to be present from his business he might enter the fight.

The big four have already taken out nomination papers in the mayoralty fight. This morning, papers were taken out for George L. Thompson. This completes the prominent quartet that fought it out last year. As Mayor Brown, John J. Donovan and Jeremiah J. Sullivan have their papers in circulation at the present time.

The list of candidates for other offices is rapidly growing. In addition to those names published already, 12 new candidates took out papers today. For councilor-at-large Edward Appleton, a present member of the council, Cornelius J. Sullivan and Maurice J. Lambert, prominent figures in the school committee, John W. Daley of 16 Andrews street, Atty. P. Harold Ready of 57 Fulton avenue, and Joseph J.

Sweeney of 27 Court street, have taken out papers. Joseph A. N. Chretien of ward six, Fred A. Sadlier of ward four, John J. Queenan of ward two and John P. Gookin of ward five have entered the fight for ward councilors. The first three named are present members of the council.

The city of Lowell was represented by City Solicitor Tierney, although he took no active part in the court proceedings inasmuch as the attorney himself maintained a neutral attitude. Judge Bradley ruled that he was not interested in two of the allegations made by the plaintiffs, to wit: that Contractor Walker had not completed his contract and that during the construction of the building Mr. Walker had converted to his own use a quantity of steel valued at $3520. The court added that nowhere in the plaintiffs' petition could he find a suggestion or allegation of fraud or misfeasance.

The petitioners were represented by the law firm of Gallagher, Shea & Hill of Boston. Attending the court session today were Dr. John J. Lambert, Dr. Joseph P. Lamoureux, Timothy O'Sullivan, John J. Mullane and John A. Stevens of the high school building commission, and Fred L. Bourke, the architect.

AMERICAN RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Tomorrow morning, the American Red Cross will open its sixth annual roll call for members throughout the country. In years just past, membership has decreased greatly from that of the years during the war and immediately following. As a direct result, the work of the organization has been greatly hampered. This year's drive, it is hoped, will bring greater results and thus aid the work.

In 1918, the membership of the local chapter was 25,143, while this year's membership only reached 4355. Despite the fact that the available money of the local chapter was much less than usual, approximately $13,027, was spent to relieve the actual needs of disabled veterans and their families. During the year, 2633 individuals or families have been aided by the local Red Cross. This is an average of 230 a month.

It is urged that the people of the city, in so far as they are able, subscribe during the roll call. The membership fee of $1 may be sent to the headquarters at 81 Merrimack street or to the Union National bank.

MR. CHENEY'S CANDIDACY—Owing to an error in a morning paper report it was stated that Albert J. Cheney had taken out nomination papers as a member of the school committee. Mr. Cheney, who lives at South Walker street, wishes to have it known that the name should have appeared as Alvin J. Cheney instead of Albert J. Cheney.

WINDOW WASHER FALLS

Drops From Fourth Floor to Electric Sign—Dangles in Air, Unconscious

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Thousands coming from the women's parade, together with the large shopping crowd, witnessed yesterday afternoon at 3 the rescue of Paul Harrington, 25, of 35 Lawson street, a window-washer, who fell from the fourth story of 15 Winter street, smashed a glass electric sign between the third and second story and dangled there in mid-air.

Although the sidewalk below was crowded with passersby at the time of the accident, no one was hurt by the falling glass from the electric sign, which extended over the sidewalk and enclosed a dozen bulbs.

David Phillips, his helper, of 97 Broadway, South Boston, immediately seized a rope which had been used as a rigging in the outside work and, with Joseph Reed, 31 East Dedham street, and Patrician Coughlan of the Traffic squad, rushed to the second floor in an effort to reach the body of Harrington. This was made truly secure, and the man, who dived out from the building.

On account of the entanglement of wires, some of which were charged with current, the men had to work carefully in getting a rope first to the leg and then to the body of Harrington. This was made truly secure, and the man, who dived out from the building.

A passing automobile was halted to take the man to the Haymarket Hotel hospital. He was unconscious.

An alarm was sounded from box 1411, and brought the apparatus to the scene, but by the time the ladder trucks arrived, Harrington had been removed from the perilous position.

According to Phillips, the rope which held Harrington to the building broke.

At the Relief hospital Harrington was transferred to the City hospital. Nothing more serious than a sprained left ankle could be found.

SEC. HUGHES INDORSES CONG. ROGERS' BILL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Far-reaching reorganization of the foreign service as proposed in the bill pending in congress and presented by Representative Rogers, republican, of Lowell, Mass., was endorsed by Secretary Hughes in letters to Mr. Rogers and to the chamber of commerce of the United States made public yesterday at the department.

"Past war conditions have rendered a general betterment of the present organization so imperative," Mr. Hughes wrote Mr. Rogers, "that failure to provide for reorganization along constructive lines would be tantamount to retrogression."

The secretary made it plain that the revised Rogers' bill prepared at the state department and submitted to President Harding was the proposal he endorsed. He described it as representing no important departure from the principal features of the original Rogers bill which were enumerated as follows:

Classification of ministers; amalgamation of the diplomatic and consular service into a single foreign service on an interchangeable basis; representation allowances; substitution of a corps of foreign service pupils for the present corps of consular assistance; a retirement system.

STATE SECRETARIES TO DISCUSS AUTO

FRANKFURT, Ky., Nov. 10.—The automobile, with its attendant problems of registration and taxation, will be the main topic of discussion at the annual meeting of members of the National Association of Secretaries of State which meets here November 17-18.

Round table discussion will occupy the greater part of the sessions of the meeting. Uniform registration in all states will be discussed as will automobile thefts, various forms of taxation and corporation and blue sky laws.

A report of a committee appointed at the association's meeting last year relative to the formation of elective officers and heads of motor vehicle registration departments being formed into a single association, will be made at the first day's session.

"Doctor, I Want
Teeth
I Can Eat With"

A man came into this office some time ago and made the above statement. He said he had two sets of teeth and could not eat with either of them. I made him a set and he came in the office later and said they were the only ones he could keep in his mouth without pain and he could chew peanuts and eat apples without the least trouble.

The reason for this is my particular method of taking impressions of the jaws, and correct articulation of the teeth.

Now, I can make you a set of teeth just as good as his. If your plate drops or rocks come in, for I make a specialty of difficult cases and will examine your mouth and give you advice free of charge.

The price for sets of teeth is $8 up. Gold crowns $5. Fillings 50c up. Teeth extracted painlessly free, when plates are ordered.

Open Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

One Million Watts! Vacuum Tube Developed Into Huge Power Source

J. H. PAYNE, JR., AND HIS MILLION-WATT TUBE

Out of the small vacuum tube of the radio set engineers will be able to produce power not only in wireless but in other electrical fields. The extent of these wonders can only be deduced from the great achievements already accomplished. One of these—the latest—is the development of the tube until it can include a power that will span the ocean with its radiated waves.

J. H. Payne, Jr., research scientist for the General Electric company, is the man to whom credit is given for the development of this tube. Before him Dr. Irving Langmuir had brought out a tube, six of which were used recently in the transmission of high frequency waves to Nauen, Germany.

Immense Power

Payne's product is said to be 50 times as powerful as Langmuir's. Its power output is 40 amperes under a pressure of 250,000 volts which means its capacity is 1,000,000 watts. To conceive the immensity of this tube it may be reduced into known terms. For example, the tube weighs 60 pounds and supplies enough energy to light 1500 average homes. Its filament of tungsten, if drawn into filament the size of that in an ordinary incandescent lamp, would supply enough for 75,000 such lamps.

This tube essentially is intended for the generation and transmission of high voltage direct current and for other engineering work requiring high electrical energy. It serves as a converter to change alternating or low frequency to high frequency current.

Good For Radio

Its efficiency is rated at from 70 to 80 per cent for radio transmission. For other electrical purposes, however, it is not so high.

What will be the end of this development of the vacuum tube, none of the engineers in the General Electric laboratories could predict.

"The practical construction of powerful tubes giving thoroughly satisfactory operation requires a great deal more of development work," explained Dr. Langmuir in discussing Payne's invention. "It would be rash, however, to predict the limitation of the ultimate use of the vacuum tubes in the power field."

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

Eating Too Much Meat May Clog Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and is harmless to the system, clogs kidneys and stimulates them to normal activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent little water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says he feels lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

WAY TO REVOLUTION THROUGH GERMANY

MOSCOW, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press) The Third International was told last night by Zinoviev, chairman of the executive committee, that the way to world revolution is through Germany. It was not very optimistic of communist progress in other parts of the globe during the past year, but he said the movement had made tremendous strides in Germany and predicted that the next few months would bring "surprising happenings" in that country.

Regarding the United States, the Soviet leader declared that some progress had been made toward the world revolution despite persecutions and the very thorny paths which communist leaders and their followers have had to travel. He admitted that the move had lost ground in England, saying that the situation there was considered almost hopeless. Zinoviev was similarly pessimistic as to communist chances in Hungary and China, and added that the position of the movement in Italy and France was discouraging.

But optimistic reports have been received from Japan and India, he declared. Great results already have been achieved in India and much is to follow, he asserted, at the same time placing South Africa and Australia on the list of countries where the communists have made progress.

It is upon Germany, however, that the hopes of the revolutionists are centered.

Zinoviev said events were sure to happen there which would centralize the aim of the party to bring all countries face to face with communism.

AIR FULL OF WILD RUMORS

No One Knows Whether Situation in Constantinople is Better or Worse

Little News Received in London Since Turks Cut Cables Near Chanak

LONDON, Nov. 10 (By the Associated Press)—If any message on the Turkish situation had been received from Constantinople up to noon today in official quarters no British official was willing to admit to the press. One government official went so far, however, as to say the situation was "ominous" and that nothing had been received indicating that conditions were any better.

The official declined to explain the information on which this statement was based.

No one seems to know whether the situation is better or worse. The news that has trickled through since the Turks cut the cables to Chanak has been of a vague nature and the air is full of disquieting rumors.

The Daily News has the report that the Ankara government has asked the Soviet government at Moscow whether the Russian Bolsheviks will adhere to the Russo-Turkish military agreement in the event of war. This report said Moscow had replied affirmatively, but the correspondent who filed the dispatch understood that such adherence would not take the form of sending troops to the Turks as the Soviet fear this would affect Russia's individual interests with other nations.

Some newspaper reports declare the troubled conditions in Constantinople are becoming worse, while others report improvement, but none carry the impression of reliability. On the whole, British sources of information declare the Turks are getting worse at Constantinople and French sources report improvement.

British War Office Aids

It is understood that military plans concerning the Near East were discussed again in the British war office yesterday. The cabinet will meet this morning at 10 o'clock to consider Britain's position in the Near East, according to the Daily Mail.

Everyone seems to be simply waiting to see what reply the Ankara government will make to the demand of the allies that the Turkish nationalists comply with the Madros and Mudahat conventions. Upon this reply hinges the question of whether the allied commissioners will declare martial law in the Constantinople area. Paris has a report that Janet Pasha, national foreign minister, has begun to make "sounder views" and has offered to cooperate with the allies in certain administrative matters in the Constantinople region. But, according to the diplomatic notes in the Daily Telegraph, the allied commanders are unable to take such offers seriously as they are no sooner made at Constantinople than they are repudiated at Ankara.

Peace Conference Uncertain

The various powers have not yet agreed on what to do about getting the Near East peace conference at Lausanne started. The nationalists continue to claim for getting down to business on scheduled time next Monday and the French apparently want to accommodate them, but the British feel a postponement is highly desirable.

This text of Russia's reply to the invitation of the allies for the plenipotentiaries to attend the Lausanne conference merely during the discussion of the status has been received here. It reiterates the views expressed by Foreign Minister Tchitchev in his note of Oct. 20, contending that the exclusion of Russia from the whole conference proves the allies have decided to deprive Turkey of the fruits of her victories. The reply protests the Soviet government is in effect a sort of protector of Asiatic nations and insists that the Moscow government and the governments of the Ukraine and of Georgia should be given full participation at Lausanne.

LEGAL IN CONNECTICUT, ILLEGAL IN MASS.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 10.—No limit to the time in which a divorced person may remarry in the state where the decree is awarded applied in Connecticut to persons from other states, says Corporation Counsel Robert P. Butler of this city, in an opinion prepared for the Hartford bureau of vital statistics yesterday. A license cannot be refused to a person on those grounds, he held, there being no state law covering the subject.

The opinion was asked as a result of the marriage here of persons who had been divorced in Massachusetts, with a court ruling that they could not remarry within a specific time. Although such a marriage is held to be legal in Connecticut, the divorced person would be liable to prosecution on a charge of bigamy if he or she returned to Massachusetts.

The Russian demands a quick answer, but it is stated here that the allies most likely will not send a reply to Moscow, leaving it up to Russia to attend the conference or stay away from it, as she wishes.

RETURNS ARE NOW COMPLETE

National House to Have 225 Republicans and 207 Democrats
Senate to Be Made Up of 53 Republicans, 42 Democrats and 1 Farmer-Labor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—On the face of practically complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's election the exact lineup by parties in the 68th congress will be:
House: Republicans, 225; democrats, 207; socialist, 1; independent, 1.
Senate: Republicans, 53; democrats, 42; farmer-labor, 1.
The republican total in the senate is predicated upon a victory for that party in the senatorial contest in North Dakota. Should that returns show the election of P. F. Giffen, the democratic candidate, the republicans would have 52 and the democrats 43. In the present senate the republicans have 50 members and the democrats 36, a republican majority of 24.

Beveridge Re-elected by 37,000

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 10.—Complete unofficial returns from Tuesday's election in Indiana in the contest for United States senator show that former Governor Samuel M. Hulse, democrat, ran 37,025 votes ahead of former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, republican, the vote being Hulse 67,757; Beveridge 30,732; William Henry, socialist, 11,473.

"Dry" Vote Gains

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Related returns from isolated "dry" outposts in the state today were threatening to reverse the 22,043 vote lead against the California prohibition enforcement amendment voted on Tuesday's election. Earlier figures had augured a decisive "wet" victory.

Off For Hartford

MINNOLA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The United States army eligible D-3 which left Maryland early today, and arrived at Mitchell field after a flight of about five hours, took the air again at 9:30 a. m., for Hartford, Conn.

Bill Youngest in Senate

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 11.—Clarence C. Dill, democrat, of Spokane whose election to the United States senate is indicated by incomplete returns, will be the youngest member when he takes his seat March 1. It is said he is 32. Mr. Dill who was 35 years old three weeks ago, is a bachelor.

HIBERNIANS WILL HOLD FOUR-DAY CARNIVAL

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the members of the local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Ladies' Auxiliary, and friends of the order, was held in A.O.H. hall, Middle street, last night and preliminary plans for a carnival to be conducted in Associate hall, made. The affair will be held on January 15, 16, 17 and 18 and the proceeds will be turned over to the building fund of the organization. John McInerney, chairman of the general committee, presided at last night's meeting and explained the purpose of the carnival. It was announced that tickets are now ready for distribution and that the price of the same will be $1, admitting the bearer to the hall on all four nights. On each individual ticket is a number which entitles the holder to a chance on a $10 gold piece.

James O'Sullivan made a stirring appeal to those present to support the project at hand and urge their friends to do likewise. He explained that it was a big undertaking to handle, but that with the expected co-operation of all, it could be made a grand success. Mr. O'Sullivan explained the need of a new building for A.O.H. purposes and stated that with the money now in the treasury, plus the amount to be realized from the carnival the local Hibernians should have one of the finest homes in the city. The present quarters in Middle street are inadequate to meet the demands of the order and as the three-year lease expires next Au-

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser reserved decision today on a motion made by Outerbridge Horsey, counsel for James A. Stillman, to vacate the judgment in the Stillman case.

It is confidently hoped that a renewal will not be necessary. The following executive committee for the carnival was appointed: James O'Sullivan, chairman; John Sullivan, John Kenney, John McInerney, and Miss Catherine Gaffney. An entertainment followed the business meeting.

LIVERPOOL.—The autumn cup, of 2000 pounds, run here today, was won by Lord Dorby's Selene. Poisoned Arrow was second, and Monarch was third.

CAPTAINS REDUCED TO LIEUTENANTS

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Orders reducing 36 regular army captains on duty in New England to first lieutenants were received at First Army Corps area headquarters today. Among those affected was Captain John C. McDonald, who was executive officer of the citizens' military training camp at Camp Devens this summer.

WILL NOT REDUCE FARES TO NO. CHELMSFORD

Street railway fares to North Chelmsford cannot be reduced at the present time, according to the public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company. Agent H. P. Gilmore of the Stiles mills of the U. S. Worsted company, North Chelmsford, has received the following letter from Arthur G. Wadleigh, chairman of the public trustees, in answer to the petitions from employees of the North Chelmsford mills and other residents of that section demanding lower street railway fares:

Dear Mr. Gilmore—Your letter of Oct. 26th, enclosing list of names of your employees requesting reduced car fares on the North Chelmsford line has been given careful consideration by the public trustees.

We have tried to figure out how we could comply with your request, but our study of the situation convinces us that such a fare reduction, which would so seriously affect our earnings would, at this time, especially on the verge of winter, when expenditures are always inevitable to keep tracks clear of snow, be very unwise.

The Lowell district of which North Chelmsford is a part, is not earning service at cost, and to throw any additional burden on the car riders of Lowell through special rates, to one suburban line would be a great injustice which the people of that section would very naturally and properly resent.

When fare reductions are made in Lowell, we believe that all of the car riders should equally enjoy the benefit.

Very truly yours,
ARTHUR G. WADLEIGH,
Chairman of Public Trustees.

OREGON VOTE HITS
PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 10.—Oregon voters at the general election Tuesday approved, according to returns from all counties tabulated yesterday, an initiative measure known as the Compulsory School bill, over which a hard fight was waged throughout the state.

The bill, sponsored originally by the Scottish Rite Masons, was taken up by the Ku Klux Klan as its main issue. It is said the bill will close parochial schools.

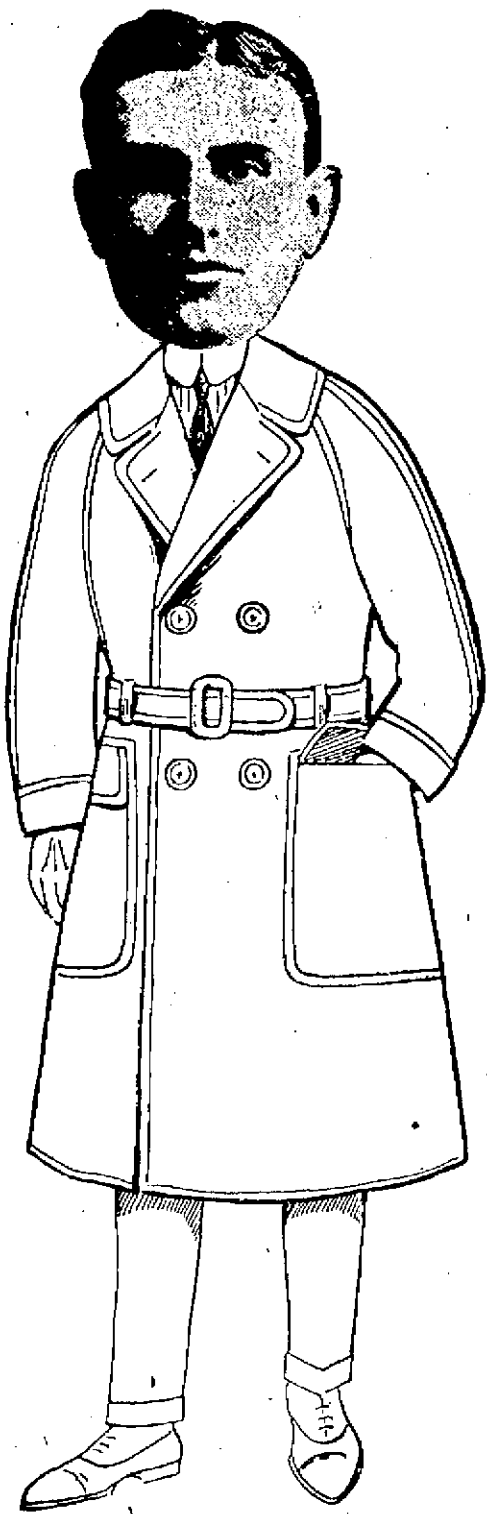

The purpose of the bill is stated on the official ballot as follows:
"Requiring any parent or guardian or other person having control, charge or custody of a child over 5 and under 16 years of age, from and after Sept.

For immediate and permanent relief from eczema I prescribe

"If you want to experiment, try some of those things you talk about. But if you really want that itching stopped and your skin healed, I advise you to get a jar of Resinol Ointment, and a cake of Resinol Soap. We doctors have been prescribing that treatment ever since you were a small boy, so we know what it will do. It is cooling, soothing, easy and economical to use, and rarely fails to overcome eczema and similar affections."

READY-TO-WEAR OVERCOATS

Made in my own shop during the dull months of August and September. There are times in a tailor shop when coat makers get caught up—as they call it—and it is a case of lay him off or give him something to do. I don't want to lay off my men, neither can I afford to pay them for idle hours. The making of READY-TO-WEAR Overcoats solves the problem. The plan enables me to quote lower prices for made-to-measure and to sell ready-to-wear for less than actual cost. All these garments are Hand Tailored, some are all lined, others are one-half satin lined. I have them in one-half belts, whole belts, with patch and bellows pockets, ulsterette, plain and raglan effects. From what I have seen in store windows the lowest grade of these coats would retail around $25 to $30.

WASHINGTON'S YOUNGEST HOSTESS

MARIE SUNDELIUS WILL SING HERE SUNDAY

After an artist has succeeded in fully establishing herself in the esteem and affection of the music-going public, it is interesting to note how the start was made in the particular line of music that has brought her fame. Very little has been written in this respect about Marie Sundelius, who is to be presented by the Lowell Choral society Sunday afternoon. In the first place, she is an exception to the rule that most singers who come to the top in opera have only done so after long preparation in that particular field of musical endeavor; in other words, most singers who have succeeded in opera have done so because they have had special training in opera from the start. Not so with Marie Sundelius. According to her own words, she never gave opera a consideration as a young girl when she first started to study music. She never had a wild ambition to grace the boards of an opera house and gather the plaudits of the multitude in this way. It was not until she had come to New York to sing one of the solo parts in Bossi's "Joan of Arc" and had attracted such favorable notice that friends insisted on arranging an audition with Gatti-Casazza for her. To her surprise she was engaged. And here it is best to quote the singer's own words.

"I didn't want the contract. I didn't want to sing in opera. The first year was so hard. I didn't know a word of Italian and had never even looked at an operatic score. As a girl in Boston, of course, I attended many musical performances, but always gave the preference to concerts. I came to the stage of the Metropolitan unfamiliar with operatic stage routine and all the tradition that many young singers absorb in their preliminary pursuit of operatic experience in the smaller opera houses abroad. My operatic experience and training just came as I went along. At the Metropolitan one learns to take what is offered, and profit in proportion to the study and enthusiasm one puts into even a very minor role that may cause one's work to be noticed and thus lead to more important roles and then the stellar roles, which are the ambition of every singer who gets started on an operatic career. Discouraged? Never! If a singer is made of the right stuff. Envy those who have already reached the top? Why envy? Anyone who can sing a role, no matter how small, on the stage of our own Metropolitan should take credit for it. Work hard, and trust to the future."

R. R. DEVELOPMENT

Government Regulations Responsible for Decline, Says Markham

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press).—Government regulation is almost wholly responsible for the decline of railroad development and existing shortage of transportation, Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, told members of the Railway Business association at the annual dinner here last night.

For ten years before the war, he said, unwise regulation kept down the rates and reduced the net return of the railroads, although wages, prices and returns earned in other lines of business were increasing.

"The outstanding fact regarding the present shortage of transportation is that it has been met at the very beginning of a period of business revival," he said.

"In this respect it creates a situation unprecedented in our history—a situation which should cause every farmer and business man, every railway regulating official, every public man, every wage worker, to pause and reflect seriously.

"In past periods of business revival at the increase in freight business has gone on until it has reached a point 35 to 150 per cent. higher than ever before. We may well ask ourselves whether, with the railways freight record of 1920, they can be expected within a few months or years to handle such an increase in tonnage as past experience shows would only be normal in a period of general revival."

Mr. Markham said the situation is due partly to the coal and ship employees' strikes but added that the large contributing factor was the mere rapid development of the production and commerce of the country than the development of the facilities of the railroads.

"Clearly it is essential to the well-fare of the country that the railways should as rapidly as practicable, put their existing facilities in good condition, and that they should for some years rapidly improve and expand their properties," he continued. "The only thing which ever will enable and cause the railways to carry out a sufficient program of expansion will be to let them earn sufficient net return to raise the new capital required for that purpose."

Repeal of the rate making provisions of the Esch-Cummings transportation act would be the most deadly blow that could be aimed at railroad credit and the nation's good faith and prosperity, he said, adding that it would tend to cause a chronic shortage of transportation which would seriously hinder all increase of production and commerce as long as it lasted. "It is plain to every man who thinks that the wages of labor can be paid, the income the farmer can get, the profits that can be derived from business, depend in the long run upon the total amount of production and commerce that can be carried on. If the necessities, comforts and luxuries each of our people have is to be increased, we must increase our total production and commerce more rapidly than our population. We have always done this in America. But nothing could be more obvious than that the increase in production and commerce which is vital to the welfare of all cannot be secured without a corresponding increase in transportation."

SIZE NO DETRIMENT TO ENDURANCE HORSE

CHICAGO, Nov. 10. (By the Associated Press.)—Any straightgoing, sound horse, with the heart to keep going down the road, can finish in the 300 mile annual endurance test, according to experts who have analyzed the results of the 1922 meet, held recently at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt.

The result, they decided, shows what racing men have long known: that the winners come in all shapes and sizes. This year's five-day race was the fourth annual renewal of the classic of the army remount world, which W. H. Brown, of Berlin, N. H., and A. W. Harris, of Chicago, were instrumental in founding.

Wayne Dismore, of Chicago, chairman of the committee in charge, in an analysis of the winning horses, commenting on the wide range of types that finished in the ribbons, finds that the variation in the victors was more apparent than real, however, being largely due to the more upstanding carriage of head and neck in standing.

All had good withers for the saddle, Mr. Dismore says, all were strout-backed and powerfully muscled over back and loins, all had fair slope of shoulders and pasterns, good feet and well set legs.

Vendetta, the first prize winner, was a thoroughbred, Gladstone, finishing second, a Morgan; Grant, in third place, a grade American saddle horse; Cragmore, fourth, a crossbred by a thoroughbred stallion out of a standard-bred trotting mare; Pathfinder, fifth, a thoroughbred, and Clonmell, finishing sixth, was an imported Irish hunter, largely thoroughbred in breeding. The first prize winner was a mare, and all the others geldings.

The most important lesson learned from the endurance tests, which require the horse, carrying 225 pounds a year (25 pounds less than in the 1920 and 1921 meets) to complete the 300 mile in five consecutive days, Mr. Dismore says, is the necessity for straightgoing action. In other words, the horses' feet and legs should move straight forward, parallel to a line drawn through the center of his body, in the direction of travel. Any deviation, the tests have revealed, wastes energy, leads to leg weariness, and causes the horses to "interfere" by hitting the fetlocks with the shoe of the other foot.

Some of the prize winners were perfect straightgoers, but their deviation was so slight as to cause no interference, except in the case of the first prize winner, and her rider found a way to check the trouble, which was due to bad shoeing.

Next to straightness, the judges decided, a low easy seat is most desirable, a gait described by horsemen as "slipping along." This was most noticeable in Vendetta and Clonmell. Both raised their feet only enough to clear the ground and both put their feet down squarely with a springy step.

High knee and lock action, with extreme flash, so much admired and sought after in horses used as park hacks, is a distinct disadvantage, it was found to horses forced to undergo endurance rides.

The judges also found that the skill of the rider, his seat, hands and feet enter largely in the result. The best riders rode the entire 300 miles standing up in their stirrups, balanced so perfectly they never struck the saddles. "One of the judges," Mr. Dismore says, "described the ideal seat when he said of one rider: 'You could glue a fresh laid egg in the seat of his saddle, and he would not break it in a whole day's ride.'"

Long stirrups, and riding straight up, with spring in ankles and leg muscles to take all shock of the rider's weight from the horse characterizes the best long distance riders, Chairman Dismore's report says, and "pounding the saddle" at a trot, as the park riders do, is precisely what must not be done.

Major Louis Beard, commander of the Fort Royal remount station, who rode the first prize winner, said:

"I rode the entire distance standing in my stirrups continually in a trot and some of the time when at a walk. When trotting I rode 'easier' as it were, in my stirrups, endeavoring at all times to keep my center of gravity a very little ahead of the horse. Instead of pulling my weight, my mount was endeavoring to catch up with it. At times I bridged with my reins across the neck just in front of the withers, but very lightly, merely to retain my balance."

AMHERST DAY EXERCISES
Congressman John Jacob Rogers was the principal speaker at Amherst day exercises held this forenoon in the town hall, Chelmsford, Centre. The affair, which was for the general public, was largely attended. The program included selections by the high school orchestra and singing and readings by the students of the school.

H. P. KITTIE'S THEATRE

The bill at the H. P. Keith theatre, this week, makes a special appeal to those who like comedy. Aside from Fort Levy—who is the headliner, practically every act is filled with comedy gems. Mr. Levy is an artist who works in the medium of snooked glass and who whistles the while he is at work. The Boston City Four sings but does more. The four members are broad comedy makers, who have brought something new into their work this year. Then there are Arthur Stone and Grace Hayes, who in "Green Goods," have one of the funniest comedies of the year. Simpson & Douglas are a snappy pair, and May McKay and Hor Slaters present a Scottish act that is a winner from the start. "Taxi," the actor dog, plays a real part in the comedy. The bill winds up with the daring of the Haris wells.

OPERA HOUSE

Though sadly disappointed over the illness of Miss Helena Morrill, prima donna of the Boston Opera Co., which forced a cancellation of a three day engagement at the Opera House, Manager J. W. Schanke lost no time in booking up his attractions for next week and for the first three days is announcing a sunny musical revue, entitled "Girls and Giggles," with the added attraction of "Adam and Eve."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sutter, who proved that they could live the primitive life in the Maine woods last winter. Mr. and Mrs. Sutter will lecture on how they existed in the wilds of the forest without clothing and with only the food that they wrested from the soil and from the beasts of the forest. They will finish with a sharp shooting act. Among the leaders in the musical revue are Jack Morley, Bob Williams, Howard McNab and a chorus of pretty girls.

FATONS OF HUSBANDRY

NO FANCY WEDDING KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

$40,000,000 Heiress to Have

Simple Ceremony — To

Wed Childhood Sweetheart

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A simple wedding and a domestic life like other "plain folks" is the plan of Miss Delora Angell, $10,000,000 heiress, who refused titled Europeans for her childhood sweetheart, Lester Norris, 21, artist and son of Cal Norris, the village undertaker at St. Charles, Ill.

Miss Angell, who is 19 and heiress to the estate of her uncle, the late John W. Gates, announced her engagement to young Norris last night. Their romance began when they attended the village school together.

"I always liked Les, even when he beat me in a swimming contest," she said.

"I don't want a fancy wedding," Miss Angell said. "It's going to be a quiet family affair, the first part of next May."

The young heiress said she wants no retinue of servants in her home.

"I don't want a chauffeur," Miss Angell said. "I want to drive my own car. I guess we'll have to have a man for the yard and garden. Les isn't very handy at those things. Besides, he will be busy drawing pictures."

FOUNDER OF D. A. R. DIES AT PLYMOUTH

PLYMOUTH, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Mary

The installation of officers of Lowell council No. 72, Knights of Columbus, took place in the council rooms last night. District Deputy John A. Cavan of Haverhill conducting the ceremonies. The officers installed were: Grand knight, John E. Hart; deputy grand knight, Roger J. Lang; financial secretary, Philip J. Breen; treasurer, Thomas J. Fitzgerald; recording secretary, Patrick J. Nevins; warden, Francis J. Phinegan; trustee, Charles J. Saunders; chaplain, James B. Coughlin; inside guard, Michael A. Keefe; outside guard, John J. Lane. Addresses were made by Deputy Cavan, Grand Knight Hart, General Manager M. E. McCormick of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway company and Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. Who paid an eloquent tribute to the worth of the late Rev. Francis J. Mullin, friar of the Fourth Degree, K. of C. The drawing for the Jewett sedan will take place in Associate hall on November 14, next Tuesday evening, and the committee desires that all returns be made on or before Sunday.

Smith Lockwood, founder of the Daughters of the American Revolution, died yesterday at the Jordan hospital, where she had been a patient since September. She was 51 years of age.

Mrs. Lockwood, who was a native of Smith's Mills, N. Y., and the widow of Henry Lockwood of Washington, D. C., formed the D. A. R. 22 years ago. The body was forwarded to Washington today.

EFFORT TO TRACE PISTOL USED IN SLAYING

HAVRE, Mont., Nov. 10.—An effort was made today to trace the pistol with which Rev. Leonard Jacob Christler and Mrs. Margaret Carleton were shot to death in the Christler home recently after the identification last night of the weapon by former Policeman C. J. Sunday.

The revolver is said to be one used by John Jenkins, a client of Mrs. Carleton's husband, during an alleged assault in a poolroom three years ago.

Ownership of the pistol which was found in the hand of Mrs. Carleton was not determined at the coroner's inquest, which found that Mrs. Carleton had shot the preacher and herself.

Mrs. Joseph Pyle of Butte, Mrs. Carleton's mother, said the weapon did not belong to Mrs. Carleton.

According to the police, the dead woman's husband, Frank E. Carleton, acted as attorney for Jenkins at the time of the alleged assault in 1919. Former Officer Sunday said that the pistol was taken from Jenkins by Jake Shockney, who turned it over to Sunday. He has not yet been able to account for the presence in the Christler home of the pistol, which he identified by number.

Carleton Refuses to Talk
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 10.—Frank E. Carleton, former Montana judge, husband of Mrs. Margaret Carleton, who was found shot dead with the Rev. Leonard Jacob Christler at Havre, Mont., Oct. 27, said he "had nothing whatever to say" of the fatal revolver which the Havre police said had been identified as once the property of one of Carleton's former clients.

MEXICAN REBEL CHIEF AND 7 OTHERS KILLED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 10. (By the Associated Press.)—The roundup of the rebels who have menaced the power of President Obregon has now snuffed out the life of Gen. Juan Carrasco, leader of the rebellious factions along the west coast and particularly in the state of Sinaloa.

He was killed yesterday together with seven of his men in a battle with federal forces at Guamachilla in the state of Durango. Not long ago it was understood that Carrasco was attempting a union with Gen. Murguía, the rebel leader who was captured and executed last week.

Saco-Lowell Sales Representative
"live Returns From Interesting Trip to England

Good news travels slowly sometimes.
It was learned today that more than one New England textile manufacturer had representatives in attendance at the great textile machinery and accessories exhibition, held last month in Manchester, England, and that at least one Lowell manufacturing establishment had agents there to further advance the world-wide selling campaign of Lowell-made goods new under way.

The Saco-Lowell shops headquarters on Dutton street today declared that it wasn't "late news" at all, the fact that Sales Manager Hovey had been in Manchester for the "big" people and had returned home safely.

"The business trip was in the interest of the Saco-Lowell products and was conducted by the head of our sales force. We had no machinery on display at the Manchester exhibition hall."
This was the statement issued by the local offices today.

The fact that the Manchester exhibition was a pronounced success in every way, was readily testified to.
The exhibition was run for 14 days, and had over 10,000 visitors. Representatives of 18 foreign countries went to the show. Manchester hospitality was severely taxed at times, but the American textile men had a good time and enjoyed everything to the limit.

Leicester, Eng., gets the international exhibition next year. This is an important history and knit goods centre and industries are now flourishing.

Among the American visitors besides the Saco-Lowell shops representative was Lawrence Koffler of the Whittin Machine Co., who accompanied the Lowell sales agent. All the foreign visitors expressed their appreciation of the exhibits and, what is more to the point, many of them ordered textile machinery.

THE DEMOCRATIC SWEEP

Hardly has the country recovered its breath after the astonishment caused by the announced results of Tuesday's election. To the republicans it was stunning and even to the democrats, some features of the results were more or less surprising. The outstanding results in the nation are, that the republican majority in the national house has been cut from 170 to 20 and that of the senate from 24 to 10. This is certainly a democratic sweep and taken in connection with a gain of eleven governors in the twenty-nine states that elected, it bears a serious warning to the republican party.

Michigan for the first time in seventy years elected a democrat as United States senator; and already he has announced that after taking his seat he will move that Mr. Newberry be unseated or expelled from the senate.

In New York state, Dr. Copeland will succeed Senator Calder, so that with so many new faces and men opposed to the policies of the present administration, it is safe to say that there will be some lively times in Washington after the new congress meets.

The democratic gains in Massachusetts were less than in many other states, the chief results being 27 members of the legislature, two additional state senators and one congressman. The opportunity to defeat Senator Lodge was snuffed by the democrats. There was an ample republican defection to accomplish his defeat if the democrats had done their duty.

In the neighboring state of New Hampshire, there was a great democratic victory which resulted in the election of a democratic governor and a majority in the state legislature.

Such overtures must have a deep seated cause which is undoubtedly general dissatisfaction with the republican administration, its delays, its failure to fulfill its pledges and its realignment with the predatory interests through the new tariff law. This iniquity is destined ultimately to sweep the republican party from power just as it had been defeated in 1912 because of the Payne-Aldrich law and its famous schedule K.

If the republican leaders have the tact or the judgment to change their policies, drop political maneuvering and get some business done, they may avert complete disaster for their party; but the results of Tuesday's election bespeak a great democratic victory in 1924. It eliminates Harding as a candidate if he had any notion of seeking re-election. He is a well meaning man who is doing his level best, but he does not possess the quality of positive leadership and that is mainly why his administration received such a severe beating in Tuesday's election.

CONGESTION HURTS TRADE

Real prosperity would come to the states, of course, until the railroad situation is changed. The saddest part of the rail situation today is, that it not only grossly disregards the rights of railroad stockholders, but it severely handicaps all the business of the country. Few people in their right senses will invest money in new rail stocks so long as the existing stocks are not allowed to earn a fair return.

A Sun reader mails us a clipping from a Boston financial publication that describes the situation, we believe, very accurately at the present time:

"The American railroads today are bound to death. New financing must be done by stock, and with the exception of a few strong roads, railroad stocks are not salable today in any quantity, because of the poor demand. The rails must continue to raise new money if they are to expand and increase their facilities to keep up with the growing needs of the country."

There is at the present time the largest freight car shortage in history. Business in America is absolutely dependent upon rail transportation. It is desirable to have this transportation cheap; but it is better for the shipper to pay a little more for his freight bills and get the goods, than to have comparatively low freight rates and not be able to get cars to handle his shipments.

It has been stated by eminent authorities familiar with the railroad situation, that our present congress and Interstate Commerce commission appear to be unable to grasp the seriousness of the situation. The business men of the country may have to get together and insist that the railroads be put on a business basis before there can be lasting relief.

At present the manufacturing corporations are resorting to the use of motor trucks for quick transportation especially on short hauls, but the return trips, usually without freight, are unprofitable.

HENRY FORD'S THEORY

Those who can look back over the changes which have taken place in the modes of living in all civilized nations during the last twenty years, will not be disposed to question the accuracy of Henry Ford's statement when he says:

"Within a few years—I wouldn't be surprised if it were within five or six years—we won't be mining coal any more. Coal will be burned underground, right where it is found, and the by-products utilized."

"Probably we'll utilize all the gas too, for heat, light and power. Some of the heat can be utilized, too. Some of it is generated under the ground. What heat is wasted by this method won't be nearly as important as the waste of human energy which results from our present method of mining coal, and the waste involved in transporting and distributing it."

We do not suppose that Mr. Ford had studied out just how the coal would be burned in the mine and at the same time have workmen there to attend to the process. The burning of the coal without bringing it to the surface is the doubtful thing about his statement. Otherwise, or under certain modifications, it may be true. Mr. Ford is an enthusiast on the possibility of producing electricity from coal and water power and sending the current to a great distance to do the work formerly done by steam from the consumption of coal. It may be, that if Mr. Ford got the opportunity, he would demonstrate the practicability of the theories he thus advances in rather crude form.

BOLDNESS OF TURKEY

Turkey shows the somewhat sheep-worn mailed fist at last. The advance of the Turkish armies the other day was apparently only a forerunner of what may come. Witness on Monday last the note of the Turkish nationalist government to the allied high commissioners in Constantinople, to the effect that the warships of all nations must ask it for "authorization" to pass the Straits of the Dardanelles. They must "also salute the new government of Turkey."

Are the Dardanelles to remain open for the free passage of the nations' ships of the world? France and England sternly counter that proposition and insist that Turkey abide by existing agreements.

The new demands of the Turks appear something like an ultimatum to the allies—a note of real defiance at last that surprises no one who has been studying the situation in the Near East. Turkey will have to minimize her demands or else lose much of the ground she has gained.

ADAM

Adam, the first man, "was born" Oct. 28, claims John P. Brady, of Baltimore. Brady neglects to tell where he got his information. On his estate near Gardenville, he has erected a monument to the father of the human race. If Brady accepts the biblical theory of creation, he cannot talk of Adam or Eve having been born.

If Adam could come back to life he would find 1,700,000,000 of his descendants now living. Latest world census. That would surprise the old gentleman, but not as much as the fact that no two of these descendants are exactly alike—in looks, mentality or personality. Thus it appears that each living mortal is the last link in a human chain that had its beginning in the Garden of Eden and that has come down through all the vicissitudes of time to the present moment. The sameness of type is sufficient to illustrate the Darwinian theory of human descent from an ape.

LAWYERS COME BACK

For five years no one in Bolshevik Russia was allowed to practice law, the Reds having decided that lawyers were at the root of most governmental ills.

Now the soviet announces the return of lawyers and licenses 350 of them.

Back of this you see the shrewdness of Lenin and Trotsky, willing to compromise and adapt themselves and their views to conditions. The question arises as to whether they mean to conform to any law hereafter or whether they are a law unto themselves.

Business so far this year has been 12 per cent better than a year ago, judging by freight traffic. From the first of the year to Nov. 1 the railroads moved about 33,000,000 cars of revenue-producing freight, or 12 per cent above the first 10 months of 1921.

The figure doesn't seem big. But, according to many economists, the difference between boom times and hard times is only a matter of 17 per cent in the volume of business.

Now, altogether to make up the other 5 per cent!

Clemenceau is all right perhaps, but he does not come here as a representative of the French government. It is right, therefore, that municipalities should not make him their special guest.

Had President Harding made an honest effort to settle the coal strike or the railroad strike, his party would not have suffered as it did in Tuesday's election.

This coal situation in Boston is reported to be quite alarming. That means that Lowell will also suffer for want of coal.

SEEN AND HEARD

Some men are so slow you could take a time exposure of them running.

Price of steamboats is up. Have you bought your winter's supply?

Do your Christmas home-brewing early and avoid the rush.

Only six more months until time to buy short skirts again.

The sultan of Turkey is out of work and sullen jobs are scarce.

A consciousness of the whole is the sign of a sound mind; and there is nothing more to be desired at the present moment—Plate.

To say that a man would be justified in shooting a criminal in self-defense is our idea of the "unkindest cut of all."

She Hated Herself

Miss Smithson was conscious of her power of attracting men. "And old Mr. Brown said," she whispered to her friend, "as I entered the room last night, Clara, 'Is that the beautiful Miss Smithson?'" "Yes, dear," answered Clara, "with the accent on the 'that.'"

Martin's Mistake

"Martha, you'll have to do better or I shall give you notice," said the mistress to her new maid. "But I'm doing my best, ma'am," Martha answered. "Yesterday afternoon you insisted a friend of mine." "Why, ma'am?" "When Mr. Greening called for me with his club, you insisted on the door in his face." "Golf clubs, ma'am?" said Martha. "Why, I thought he was an umbrella man."

Picked His Man

There appeared in an Alabama court a negro to whom the thing was a new experience. He was, however, undetermined not to "get the word of it." "Prisoner at the bar," called out the clerk. "Do you wish to challenge any of the jury?" "Well, Ah think you," replied the negro, looking at the men in the box over very carefully. "Ah'm not 'sactly in trainin', but Ah think Ah could put off a real and true wit dat fat of his ear corner."

The Village Constable

The village constable was exceedingly kind; but even the kindest man becomes stern sometimes, and one day he had to lock up three tramps. An hour or two afterward the local J.P. met him hurrying across the road and said: "Where are you hurrying, constable?" "O," exclaimed the kind-hearted one, "these three tramps I've locked up, but to what end, I've come out to look for a fourth!"

The Winking Light

Although she was nearly 50, it was the first time she had been to the seaside. It was nighttime, and sitting on the pier, she had her eyes fixed on the twinkling light-house. She watched it for some time, and then, "How patient sailors are!" she exclaimed. "Why?" "Well, Mr. Pollard, a sailor's wife told me that he would make up the even dollar. Shortly after this a member of Mr. Hutchings' division announced a contribution of $77.75. The laugh was on Mr. Hutchings as he dug down and contributed the 55 cents necessary to make up the even dollar. A whisper from the far end of the room announced that one man had received a donation of $11.01. This was too much for both general and stand, and they decided in haste that some of their team members were putting up 'jobs' on them.

Madame of House 10

(Ancient horse of Pawtucketville speaks right out and asks city council for a pension.)

Madame is my name, and I'm in years just twenty-eight. You perhaps remember me Back in '97.

When the five bells jangled, And the flames went high, And we pulleders of the line In the days gone by.

How we were the servants then— I could step a clip With the best of 'em, I mean— When they let us rip!

Time was money in those years When I did my part, Pulling little "Number 7," Or old "10" hose cart.

Then they got a new kind Using some new gas; And we pulleders of the line Had to let 'em pass.

Now I'm sick of standing Watching all the gas machines Taking every call.

My best days are over On the rough-paved street, Travelling as I used to, 'Cause of my sore feet.

How about Red Arg? Stow, I think, I say. Where the ancient fire steed End their weary days.

Wish they'd send me over To that pasture vale; Want to take life easy 'Fore I fill the trail.

Want to browse around and see Sunshine through the trees— Think I've won a pension— Won't you help me, please? —CARL PICKENS.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Saw my long-time friend, Albert West, striding briskly down Merrimack street Thursday afternoon, for all the world the picture of good health, no mistaking. West is known, of course, to thousands of Lowell citizens, and always responds affably to all who greet him in his walks about the city. He comes to the big square regularly, and sometimes may be found out at Pawtucket Boat Club quarters, where he is popular. Mr. West lives on Stackpole street. He does not look his years and I am informed that he doesn't really feel any older than when in other days he used to drive that excellent pair of sturdy horses for the Butler family.

I understand that the Paulist choir which is coming to the Auditorium on the 21st of this month is one of the very few organizations of its kind in the entire country. The fact that the Lowell Advertising club was able to secure this attraction is a worthy achievement for this bustling young local club. I am told that the appearance in Lowell will be the only one this celebrated group of singers will make in the entire Merrimack valley. The headquarters of the choir are in Chicago and most of the boys in the choir are from Greater Chicago. The money taken in is given over to organizations which promote classes in which citizenship principles for young men are the main factors. I understand that the advance sale for the concert is large and the number of Lowell people are anxious to hear this famous body-sing.

It seems to make little difference just how much publicity is given to the time the polls will be open on election day there are some who will come in hours after the closing time and appear to be surprised, shocked and very much put out when told that it is too late to vote. I was standing in the polling booth of precinct 1, Ward 1, about 5 o'clock on Tuesday night when I came a middle-aged woman all out of breath. Her expression was, "Say, I am surely fortunate to get here just in time. It's only a minute before 6 o'clock. When she was told that the polls had been closed for two hours her parting expression was, "Why, never mind it, but I wanted to vote so badly." After she left, more than one remarked, "If she wanted to vote so badly, why did she wait until the last minute before coming here? I guess she doesn't read the newspapers."

The friendly rivalry between H. Hutchings Parker and Harry G. Pollard, opposing generals of the two campaign teams that are trying to put the $12,000 fund drive for the T.M.C.A. is really amusing at times. At yesterday's luncheon one of the team captains reported that he had received $15.00. Mr. Pollard immediately tossed 50 cents onto the board and said that he would make up the even dollar. Shortly after this a member of Mr. Hutchings' division announced a contribution of $77.75. The laugh was on Mr. Hutchings as he dug down and contributed the 55 cents necessary to make up the even dollar. A whisper from the far end of the room announced that one man had received a donation of $11.01. This was too much for both general and stand, and they decided in haste that some of their team members were putting up 'jobs' on them.

As a sample of real friendship and a desire to be of service to this news-paper, a valued friend in Saugus—yes, The Sun goes there, too—went over time to get into telephonic communication with The Sun editorial office on election night, with the latest returns from that town. Lynn friends, too, sent along the news as it came in, and in due time the Sun's city editors specially needed to complete The Sun's returns for one particular candidate.

TOTAL REGISTRATION
Of Lowell's total registration of 32,483 voters, 15,523 are men and 16,960 are women, of a ratio of 50-40, these figures have been compiled in the office of the election commission after an exhaustive study and tabulation of the check lists.

BEAUTY IS SKIN DEEP

Utica, N. Y.—"It is always a pleasure to me to recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to any one who is in need of a good tonic. Tom Sims Says

Skinny people never forget to pull down the shades at night.

Nothing makes a man remember faces like running for office.

Every now and then you miss a man and learn he is married.

The secret of success often consists in keeping it a secret.

We all can be thankful this Thanksgiving that saxophones are hard to learn to play.

Any girl could be popular at a dance by using pulverized sugar for powder and cranberries for rouge.

What this country needs more than anything is an alarm clock that wakes only the man who sets it.

It is just as wrong for some men to take their pay check as it would be for them to rob a bank.

A wise man never falls in love with this class to Christmas.

If it weren't for engine trouble some parlors would never be used.

Men who have time to get haircuts every week have too much time.

It is estimated the energy wasted in knocking women's styles would fill 998 giant balloons.

Living is expensive but worth it.

The man who follows the crowd seldom makes the crowd following him.

Mixing business and pleasure gives you neither one of the two.

The average young man can get up in the world quicker by going off where people don't know him.

You always can get a few more miles out of last winter's clothes.

Persuade the janitor to tap on the pipes. It sounds as if he is firing the furnace.

Shaving every morning isn't so bad. You save money every time you do it yourself.

Many a poor excuse is worth money to a married man.

If business men talked as they spell, there would be a serious interpreter shortage.

Why doesn't some beauty shop advertise, "Permanent waving—hair called for and delivered?"

The boss is a man who can take it out on the hired hands when he gets mad at his wife.

Battery B Exhibition Prizes

Battery B's big reviews tomorrow will draw two large crowds of people to the Fair grounds in the morning at 10 o'clock and the South common in the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when this popular local organization will show the public the methods it uses in military warfare.

The battery is staging the double review as part of its Anniversary day program and arrangements have been made by the battery commander, Capt. George J. Faneuf, and his military aids.

REMEMBER ARMISTICE BALL AT AUDITORIUM TONIGHT—LOWELL POST 87

Hays' Big Job Now Is To Keep Politics Out of Movies

PATSY RUTH MILLER. SHE SAYS WOMEN WANTING GOOD PHOTOGRAPHS SHOULD MAKE UP LIKE MOVIE ACTRESSES BEFORE GOING BEFORE THE CAMERA.

WANDA HAWLEY. SHE'S VALENTINO'S LEADING WOMAN IN "THE YOUNG RAJA" AND JACK HOLT'S IN "NOBODY'S MONEY." NOW BEING FILMED AT HOLLYWOOD.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 8. Some political observers say the next presidency of the United States depends on the outcome of this year's gubernatorial election in New York. Others say the New York result depends on the support of the movie interests.

Knowing very little about politics, but having devoted several years to an intensive study of the movie, I take up only the latter statement.

Nathaniel Miller or Al Smith will have the support of the screen. Will Hays is wise enough to see to that.

The motion picture is an art. The only thing that hampers it now, that constitutes its growth, is the spirit of commercialism. The only gain to be made by the picture interests in censoring politics would be a commercial one and that would be only temporary.

Art and politics are like oil and water. The public would soon perceive propaganda stuff in the films.

Imagine, then, a condition that would result in republican movies being shown at republican theatres for republican voters and democratic movies being shown at democratic theatres for democratic voters.

Each would have their fat and lean years, depending on which party would be sitting in the saddle. Changes in administration would depend on the motion picture policies of congress and whether the incumbent president had vetoed a bill prohibiting the use of picture theaters and an unhappy ending.

To become serious again, Will Hays knows he's a republican and he knows that everyone else knows that. And he knows that nothing would make his position more difficult than an attempt to influence the screen of New York to use its power for or against any political party.

As dictator of the destinies of the photoplay Hays is neither republican or democrat. Those who have insisted that he was trying to influence the screen of New York along certain lines were talking through their hats. Censorship became a political issue in New York. Just as it has become in every state in which it has been introduced. Censorship makes politics its only inlet into the affairs of the motion picture. The motion picture would be better without censorship.

Art is imperishable. Politics is fleeting. Chaplin is sure of a place in history than Harding.

PLEASED VELVET

Accorded pleated velvet is indeed a novelty, but it is very smart. It is used to form much of the bodice and a very elaborate sash on an evening frock of apple green.

GEORGES CLEMENCEAU

Group of Anecdotes of French "Tiger" Who is Soon to Arrive in U. S.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Georges Clemenceau, one of the foremost journalists in France, got his first experience as a newspaper man during his sojourn in the United States between 1890 and 1895.

Throughout his residence in America Clemenceau sent contributions to the "Temps," "Letters from America" they were called, and they dealt with all the foremost questions of the day. His articles on the future of the negro race in the United States, written two years after the end of the Civil war, are a model of style and show a clear understanding of this complex problem. They set forth the difficulties and the dangers besetting the relations of the white and colored races in the United States.

Clemenceau wrote them after an extensive tour of the south, and he drew a vivid picture of conditions in that then devastated area. Admirable literary documents, displaying democratic tendencies, political foresight and large philosophical ideas, they show on the part of this young man of 27 nearly all the qualities of the remarkable old man of today.

A New York editor, after Clemenceau's fall from power in 1905, asked him to write a book on America. "It is already written," replied Clemenceau. Just look through the "Temps" files for 1897 and 1898.

Accused of Being Heartless

Clemenceau is charged by his enemies with being heartless. He has never shown any mercy to a powerful enemy; the fight was always to a finish. Toward the weak, however, he has been known to be lenient.

After the court had sentenced young Cottin to death in 1915 for having pumped seven bullets into the back of the automobile in which Clemenceau was riding, two of which struck the "Tiger," he recommended that the young anarchist's sentence be commuted to a term of imprisonment.

"How long shall we give him," the minister of justice asked.

"About ten years," said Clemenceau. "I'll be dead and gone before he comes out, in case he should like to use me for a target again."

Cottin has now served nearly four years of his sentence and, with time allowance for good behavior he should leave jail about 1926.

Clemenceau, in spite of the bullet from Cottin's revolver which he still carries between the shoulder blade and collarbone, shows no signs of departing from the world. He is in better physical shape now than he was when the attempt upon his life was made.

Changes Anti-Clerical Ideas

Clemenceau's anti-clerical ideas were always very pronounced until he witnessed the courageous behavior under fire of Catholic priests mobilized during the war. Then his point of view underwent a change, and his attitude toward the church of Rome at present is not antagonistic.

As Clemenceau was being carried into his house on the rue Franklin after the attempt on his life by the anarchist youth, Cottin, a priest belonging to a congregation with headquarters adjoining the garden of the former premier's house, rushed up to him and offered his good services.

"Thank you, my reverend father," said Clemenceau, not unkindly. "But I don't think I'll need you this time." Then he added earnestly: "However, if you wish to be agreeable to me," he added, "I should like you to have that tree removed."

"Placing to a tall poplar in the priest's yard which threw a shade into the premier's garden—"It keeps the beautiful sun away from me."

"I'll have it felled today," replied the priest. "I should not like to be responsible for keeping you from enjoying the only sight of heaven which a sinner such as you are is likely to have."

They both laughed and shook hands, the priest wishing him a prompt convalescence.

"Horror of a Vacuum"

A bright young deputy had just made his maiden speech in the chamber. His debut had proved a huge success, and congratulations were being showered upon him from all sides.

"Come and let me press you to my heart," contributed Clemenceau, with a slight touch of sarcasm. The young deputy belonged to the opposition.

"Thank you, Mr. Premier," rejoined the deputy, "but I have a horror of a vacuum."

Thank Minister of Interior

Clemenceau had just overthrown one of the numerous cabinets for whose downfall he was responsible, and the president of the republic had sent for Deputy Sarrien and entrusted him with the task of forming a new ministry. Sarrien telephoned Clemenceau that he would like to see him at his home.

The "Tiger," upon arrival, found the Premier Sarrien, already surrounded by nearly all the future ministers of his cabinet. These were smoking long cigars and partaking of various refreshments. Looking over his stock of wet goods, Sarrien asked Clemenceau:

"What will you take, Mr. Clemenceau?" Sarrien was getting ready to choose from the various bottles on the buffet, when sharp and peremptory came the reply:

"I'll take the interior," Clemenceau said.

He was minister of the interior for six months, afterwards succeeding Carrien as premier.

Returning to Paris after being a guest at a hunting party given by President Loubet in the forest of Fontainebleau, the chauffeur of Georges Clemenceau lost his way. A luxurious limousine owned by a well known banker happened by and the chauffeur hailed it.

Recognizing Clemenceau, the knight of high finance, moved by a desire to be agreeable to the minister of the interior, said:

"Just fall in behind our car and follow us."

"You've heard him," whispered Clemenceau to his chauffeur, "follow that automobile but be prudent, keep your distance. It might lead us to La Sante prison."

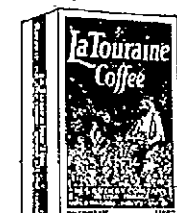

As a matter of fact, six months later the financier went to jail for a long period and the minister of the interior was greatly responsible for the pitiless manner in which the case against him was prosecuted.

Always in Opposition

Deputy Alexandre Varenne, meeting Clemenceau in the lobby of the chamber, said:

Take It In Time!

DO you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that is they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?

DO you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?

DO you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.

The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.

PREPARE FOR SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—With con- gress called by President Harding to convene in extra session Nov. 20, mem- bers of the house appropriations com- mittee were scheduled to meet today with the aim of having several of the appropriation bills ready for the house by the beginning of the regular ses- sion immediately following on Dec. 4. During the two weeks of the extra session, the call for which was issued by the president last night in accord- ance with an announcement at the White House early this week, the house is expected to devote its atten- tion to the ship subsidy bill while sub- committees of its appropriation com- mittee work on the supply bill which forms the most important task of the regular session.

Two playlets were staged at 8 o'clock and both were exceptionally well acted by the performers, all of whom are amateurs. They were en- titled "The Bank Account" and "In Of- fice Hours." The cast of characters follows:

"Sylpho-Nathol does its work so well"

"I suppose I'm just one of the many happy housekeepers who are praising Sylpho-Nathol."

"It's such a help. It's so depend- able. It's such a positive protection against unpleasant odors and germs."

"I used to think that soap and water and plenty of energy were all that any one needed to keep a house healthfully clean. I never stopped to think of disease germs that tuck themselves away in cracks and crannies where ordi- nary means won't budge them. And as for the unpleasant odors that start so easily in sinks and cellars and garbage cans of the best kept homes—I tried to put up with them as necessary evils."

"How different I feel since I've been using Sylpho-Nathol. Fred says that I use it on every square inch of the house. I know that it goes into every puddle of mop-water. Sylpho-Nathol is a real germ-de- stroyer—4½ times stronger than carbolic acid, though the druggist says it is as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap. I pour it down sink drains, because it keeps away the smells such places develop so quickly. I use it in the mop water. I sprinkle it over the garbage every day, because the flies won't come near it. I use it regu- larly around the bathroom fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl. Sylpho-Nathol makes a perfectly wonderful sprinkle for damp, dark cellar corners and attic nooks and other places where there is a chance for odors to start or germs to breed."

It's so easy to prepare. A tea- spoonful in a quart of warm water makes a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution that's ready for immediate use.

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

The X-ray was so called by Profes- sor Rontgen because, in algebra, "X" signifies an unknown quantity, and the mechanism of the ray was un- known to him.

troops and efficient control of the police and gendarmerie.

The commissioners will also discuss the situation at Chanak consequent upon the Kemalist encroachments upon the neutral zone.

Ismet Pasha, the nationalist foreign minister, in conversation with General Harrington, the British commander-in-chief, on Wednesday, complained of the constant proposals to put off the peace conference, which he said created a difficult situation.

The high commissioners also presented a note to the Kemalist representatives protesting against the "political murder" of the journalist, Ali Kemal Bey, editor of the anti-nationalist, Sabah, who was condemned to death by the nationalists early this week on the charge of subversion.

(Constantinople dispatches on Nov. 7 telling of an allied demand for the release of Ali Kemal within 48 hours said it was rumored that he already had been executed at Imdid.)

The cabinet with all the members attending, was in session more than two hours this forenoon and it is understood a message from General Harrington, the British commander at Constantinople, was discussed, although the officials were absolutely silent after the meeting and would give no hint concerning the discussion.

There was nothing to indicate when the Harrington message, if such a message actually was in hand, had been received.

The extreme reticence observed by the officials, it was declared, does not necessarily indicate that the Near East situation is too serious to be discussed as it is understood that Prime Minister Honar Law's new cabinet is adopting, for the time being, at any rate, a policy of utter secrecy regarding all cabinet meetings.

On Way to Lausanne

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 10 (by the Associated Press).—Ismet Pasha, Turkish nationalist foreign minister, left here this afternoon at 12.50 o'clock for Lausanne to attend the peace conference scheduled to begin there next Monday. He was accompanied by Dr. Riza Nur Bey and a suite of military, financial and economic experts.

The foreign minister told the Associated Press he was sincerely anxious for peace and was confident of achieving it if the allies adopted a reasonable attitude.

DUBLIN, Nov. 10. (By the Associated Press).—Heavy firing crackled in various parts of the city during the night. The irregulars renewed their attack upon Wellington military barracks and also fired upon the Portobello barracks. The early morning hours were made more hideous by the rattle of machine guns.

Two civilians were found dead on a suburban road and two soldiers lay wounded this morning in the center of the city.

the vote in the contest for United States senator in which Lodge leads

Col. William A. Gaston 3435 votes in press returns, were carried out today with the necessary petitions being filed by both democratic and republican leaders. The day that the accounts will start in the various voting districts was still in doubt, as each election board may name its own time.

A report that labor unions would ask a recount of the vote on referendum No. 2, in which a majority of 482 votes was reported in favor of the law which provides that voluntary associations may sue and be sued, was denied by labor leaders here. As petitions must be filed by 8 p. m. today, they said there was no chance to gain a recount if one were desired.

United States Attorney Robert O. Harris said the federal authorities would keep an eye on the recount proceedings also.

"It is our intention," Mr. Harris said, "to watch for any attempt at fraud in connection with the recount as well as any previous tampering with ballots or the original count. If there is any evidence of fraud anywhere in the state in connection with ballots involving elections to federal offices we will proceed."

The district attorney added that he planned to arrange to have members of the department of justice present at the recount in the large cities of the state.

ber of deputies the other day, waxed reminiscent. "When you were premier I was in the opposition," said the deputy from the left.

"So was I," replied Clemenceau.

"How could that be, when you were president of the council?" asked Varenne, surprised.

"Well, I was always in the opposition against my own ministers," the "Tiger" answered.

Very Nervous Model

Rodin, the famous sculptor, was a great admirer of Clemenceau. For many years he urged the old statesman to pose for a bust "which would transmit his features to posterity."

"Never mind about the posterity part of it," the "Tiger" finally said one day, "if you desire a bust of my ugly face as a souvenir, you can have it for yourself."

The sculptor found Clemenceau a very nervous model. "Continually the premier chuckled, turned his head on all sides, never remaining quiet long enough to permit Rodin to get the right angle to the light."

But the bust was at last completed, and Clemenceau was asked to come to the studio and have a look at it.

In a critical mood, the "Tiger" surveyed the magnificent work, a perfect living likeness.

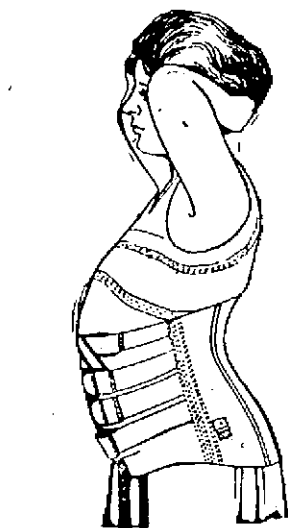

"Who is the old Mongolian general?" snapped the "Tiger" in a surly mood. Rodin was greatly pained at the lack of appreciation, and until his death the relations between sculptor and statesman were never as cordial as they had been previously.

Didn't Want to Understand

Clemenceau never had any patience for the details of technical engineer-

FREE TO RUPTURED WOMEN

If You Have a Large Navel Rupture or Have Suffered Rupture After an Operation Try My Plan Free

Special Corset Attachment for Large, Fleasly Women, Given Next, Trim Figure, Holds Rupture Securely

Mrs. G. C. Reid, representing Wm. S. Rice, Inc., Adams, N. Y., has a special corset attachment that holds any rupture no matter how large. Even if the abdomen is very fleshy, it holds any rupture with ease, comfort and security. Hundreds of women in Lowell and vicinity are in need of just such a support as Mrs. Reid is able to supply. Experience has shown that many women are unable to wear a corset because of large Navel Ruptures or those following operations. The special surgical corset and rupture support combined is designed to care for all such conditions.

Doubtless every woman who has been compelled to wear an ordinary truss or abdominal support knows the gouging, cutting and chafing caused by narrow bands. The weight of the abdomen must be carried by the band around the back and the pressure is sometimes very great, causing untold suffering. The special broad supporting corset attachment does away with all cutting, chafing and binding. It is light, flexible, durable, cool and fits the figure like a glove. It gives you a sense of absolute security and protection.

Mrs. Reid will be at the Richardson Hotel, Lowell, Mass., Nov. 13 and 14, and at the Franklin House, Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 15, to demonstrate this marvelous support free to all women. She wants to fit it on you and prove to you that it is a great blessing to all rupture afflicted women. No matter what you have tried, now is your opportunity to find out just what you require, and get the benefit of a free personal application by a competent lady expert.

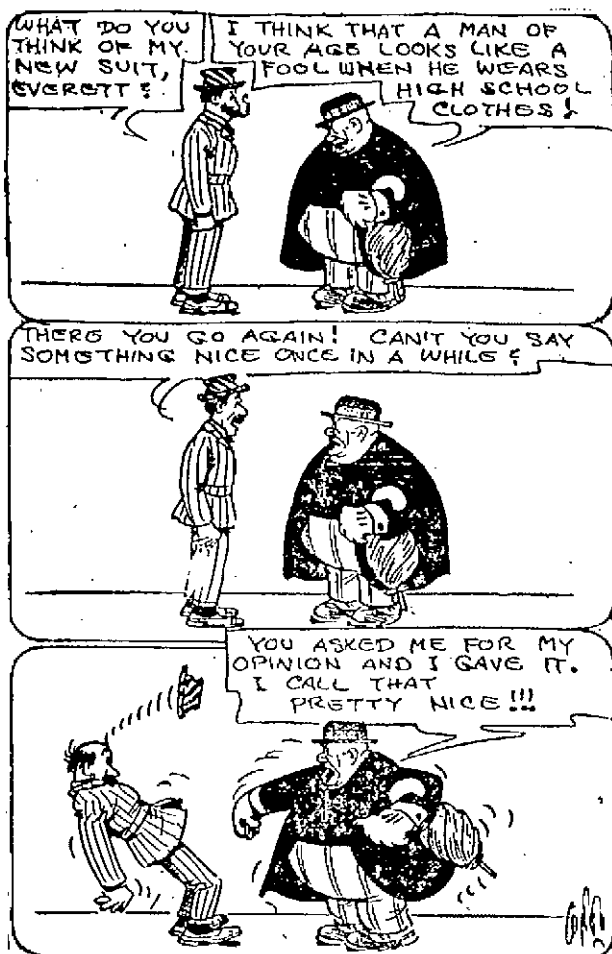

Why be burdened with rupture and suffer the continual annoyance of wearing trusses if you don't have to? Why not use the Rice Method and prove to your entire satisfaction what results are possible in your case? Thousands have been able to throw away their trusses after a brief application of the Rice Method and there are thousands who are still suffering the tortures of rupture because they know not where to turn for relief. Mrs. Reid is in Lowell to give all such women the benefit of her experience and knowledge of hernia and invites you to her private apartments at the Richardson Hotel. Do not fail to get this free demonstration.

Remember, Mrs. Reid will be in Lowell only two days, then your opportunity will be gone, so by all means don't fail to call and see this wonderful demonstration.

Daily from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., and 7 to 9 p. m.

WM. S. RICE, Inc., Adams, N. Y., Adv.

EVERETT TRUE

ing. Gabriel Voisin, the motor manufacturer, was explaining to the premier one day the intricacies of a new motor destined to increase the speed of airplanes 20 per cent. Clemenceau asked many amateurish questions.

"You evidently don't understand the first thing about what I am saying," Voisin finally declared with some impatience. "You're right, and I don't want to," replied Clemenceau.

Cannot Be Intimidated

Intimidation is a word missing from the otherwise large vocabulary of Clemenceau. During the diplomatic incidents of Casablanca, in 1905, the German ambassador called on the "Tiger," then premier of France, and after adopting an uncompromising attitude, finally declared that if Germany was not given satisfaction, he would be compelled to demand his passports. "The Berlin express leaves at 5; it is now 7 o'clock," replied Clemenceau, looking at his watch, "you'd better hurry or you'll miss it."

The German ambassador did not leave and the next day he informed the premier that Germany was satisfied.

Fears Cold, Not Bullets

Clemenceau is fearless when facing the shells of the enemy's guns or an adversary's sword or pistol on the field of honor, but he lives in dire fear of a cold in the head.

In Strasbourg, during the never-to-be-forgotten voyage to the retrieved provinces of Alsace-Lorraine, he visited most of the places of worship of the various religions, Catholic churches, Protestant temples and synagogues. "I have chosen my religion," he told a friend one evening, "the Jewish religion."

His friend expressed great surprise. "It is the only religion where one may keep one's hat on at all times," he explained, rubbing his bald head.

Clemenceau's features are of a pronounced Mongolian type.

On one of his numerous visits to the trenches during the war, he had a long conversation with an officer who, while engaged in commanding a company of infantry for the moment, incidentally happened to be a deputy.

After Clemenceau had left the senator, a "polito" stepped up to the captain and said:

"Who is the civilian you were talking to a minute ago, captain? It seems to me I've seen his picture somewhere."

The captain was non-plussed. Was it possible that one of his soldiers did not know the "Tiger"? So he decided to have a little fun with the man.

"He is a rich and powerful Chinese mandarin," the captain informed the soldier, "he dresses in the European fashion so as to visit the trenches without creating too much of a stir."

"He might better raise an army of five or six million Chinese and come and give us a lift here against the Germans," replied the "polito" gruffly.

To get material for the 400 children's stories she has written, Mary Graham Bonner has visited every zoo in this country and has made the acquaintance of practically every species of wild animal.

"Children are more intelligent than most people believe," she says. "They are often more observing than their parents and more quick to sense inaccuracies. They are reading better books than ever before, and those who write for them must know their subjects thoroughly as well as be able to write interestingly about them."

Mrs. Bonner writes fairy stories and outdoor stories, but she says animal stories are the most popular with the majority of children.

500 CHAPTERS OF HUMANE ASSOCIATION

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Since the first meeting of the American Humane Association in Cleveland, October 9, 1877, the organization has grown until there are more than 500 active anti-cruelty societies in the United States, according to a report issued here by officials of the organization.

"At the time this association was organized, child protection work was in its infancy and the movement in behalf of the protection of animals had only recently started," the report stated.

"The interval from the beginning until now has been occupied by intense activities and development on the part of the humane movement. It is easy now to gauge the practical advancement of the humane cause.

"From the zero point our work has grown until there are more than 500 active anti-cruelty societies in the United States. The annual income of our societies has increased to over a million dollars. There is an army of paid employees and voluntary agents. Many of our societies own buildings, the aggregate value of which runs into millions of dollars. Endowments amount to over four million dollars.

"Aggressive warfare has been carried on to protect the rights of children and to give them ample opportunity to be fitted for the battle of life. The interest in animal protection also has vastly increased."

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF

Shortly before 3:30 yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Harry G. Steper vs. Albert D. White and Clarence A. Barnes, returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $2300. The case was one in which the plaintiff sought to recover his share of counsel fees in bankruptcy proceedings.

Pres. Harding Calls Attention to Annual Membership Roll Call

Urgent Reasons This Year for Greater Generosity, Says Executive

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Harding in a proclamation issued today called attention to the annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross which begins tomorrow, declared "there are peculiarly urgent reasons to appeal this year in behalf of our even greater generosity than has been necessary in some other times."

Notable among those reasons, the president mentions the situation in the Near East, where, he asserts millions of people must look to more favored national communities such as the United States for the means of life. He beseeches the aid of the American people for the Red Cross as one of the chief relief agencies and the co-operation of Americans in the support of all the organizations at work in that portion of the world.

The proclamation follows:

"To the American People:

"The assurance, based on many years' experience, that there will be prompt and generous response, makes it always a satisfaction to direct public attention to the annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross. This year it will open on Armistice day, Nov. 11, and close on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 30. As president of the United States and also president of the American Red Cross, I hereby proclaim Nov. 12 as Red Cross Sunday, and invite all the people to unite with their spiritual leaders in such observance of it as may promote a renewed consecration to the gospel of service based upon divine injunction and sanctioned by all good conscience.

"By the terms of the congressional charter which called it into being, the American Red Cross is charged with certain clearly defined duties and obligations. These it has continued, during the past year, to discharge faithfully and efficiently. There are peculiarly urgent reasons to appeal this year in behalf of an even greater generosity than has been necessary in some other times, because of the extraordinary demands upon such services of mercy and humanity. One of the most fearful disasters of all history has befallen the ill-fated Near Eastern area where lives of millions of unfortunate people even now depend and must continue for a long time to depend on the untiring liberality of more favored communities. A very great sum is required to be raised if the emergency shall be met, and while the task is one to which all well-disposed peoples must contribute, our own country in virtue alike of its inspirations of humanity and its fortunate endowment in material possessions, must be conspicuous for both the great share it shall give, and the high spirit animating the gift. It is, therefore, asked that co-operation be established between the Red Cross, the Near East relief, and all other agencies which are concerned to assist in dealing with this crisis.

"In the domestic field, demands continue to press heavily upon the Red Cross. The government is earnestly seeking to insure to every diseased or disabled ex-service man the full measure of care and help which national gratitude and divine justice dictate. The aim must be to restore every service man to the best possible health and the largest opportunity for a normal and self-supporting life. In this effort the government, the army and navy, have gladly availed themselves of the assistance of the Red Cross which, due to its nation-wide volunteer organization, has been a constant and valued aid.

"In the broad field concerned with the physical welfare of the people, the Red Cross, in sympathetic contact with other organizations, and the federal and state bureaus, has been particularly active in the establishment and support of public health activities for the prevention of disease and the encouragement of sound sanitation. In its peculiar relief of the Red Cross has met the emergencies brought about by the large number of floods and other calamities during the past year, and is still called upon to aid the suffering in foreign lands due to war and pestilence. For the reasons, regardless of the multitudinous of local problems in every community, the American Red Cross deserves well at the hands of the American people.

"In the interests of our common humanity and of the service which we owe to our fellow men, I invite my fellow citizens to renew their allegiance to the American Red Cross during the period of the membership roll call.

(Signed) "WARREN G. HARDING."

"Thoughtful Mothers!" Are You One of Them?

All mothers—bless them—are loving and devoted. How often we are led to respect and admire the "thoughtful mother" who provides for emergencies and saves her loved ones from hours of suffering and herself from needless anxiety and sleepless vigil.

The season for colds, coughs, pneumonia, influenza and catarrhal ailments is drawing near, when the "thoughtful mother" makes up a full pint of pure, quickly effective cold and cough syrup; modest homely using pure concentrated Essence Mentho-Laxene (25¢) mixed with simple sugar syrup or strained honey. A pint of sugar and a half pint of water makes the syrup in three minutes. The essence and the sugar are then poured into a pint bottle and is ready to use to prevent bad colds and coughs getting worse. The very first dose gives wonderful relief and in a few days all trace of the congested and catarrhal symptoms are usually gone. The joy of seeing the quick freedom from colds, coughs and dangerous complications, the freedom from anxiety and sleepless nights, to say nothing of the real economy of this homogeneity—is worth its weight in gold.

The drug store supplies the Essence Mentho-Laxene. Beat it—cold for cough or cold! Send 5 cts. in stamps for trial bottle to The Sclafano Products Co., Dayton, Ohio.

"If only everybody would read that—"

"What a wonderful thing it would be, if all the worn-out, miserable, suffering people would heed this great truth—why it would mean everything to them—just as it did to us."

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The National Council of Jewish Women will develop plans for a broader rural program, when its board of managers meets November 13th to 15th at Atlantic City. The chief feature of its farm program, which it has carried on in several counties of New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New Jersey and Rhode Island, is its civic work. The isolated farm women are united in local organizations, with headquarters at the county seat or neighboring village, for civic classes, domestic hygiene, immigrant aid work, Americanization and rural hygiene. Circulating libraries have been established by these Council Leagues of Farm Women, and extensive educational work has been promoted. There are altogether twenty circulating libraries in the various states.

Mrs. Rose Brenner, of Brooklyn, national president of the council, who will preside at the Atlantic City meeting, directed the first rural efforts of her organization. Mrs. Estelle M. Stuenkel, of New York City, executive secretary, states that the board's agenda includes a discussion of the council's European reconstruction work at Riga, Latvia, where an immigrant aid center, with classes in English and recreational facilities, has just been established.

AUTO TAGS FORM BIG BUSINESS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 9.—Joseph H. Giesko of this city has invented a machine which, he says, will stamp out automobile tags in one operation and at less cost than they are manufactured at present.

The machine, he says, may bring about the formation of one of the largest industries in the country under one organization. At present the 25,000,000 auto tags used annually are produced in state prisons and, in some states, by private manufacturers.

Under the old methods one operation was required to cut the tag, another to round the corners and punch the slots, third to stamp the numbers and a fourth to change the dies. Giesko's machine does all this with one strike. Also it saves considerable time in the operation. And the final cost of the finished product is said to be much less than that of today.

The inventor is negotiating with large financial interests for the organization of a national license tag firm.

SIKI IN HARD LUCK

French Boxing Federation
Takes Away His Title—
British Authorities Bar Him

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(By the Associated Press) "Battling" Siki, aspirant for the crown that sits upon Jack Dempsey's head, today was standing with reluctant feet where the champs and has-beens meet.

Last night the French boxing federation snatched away his title. "Light heavyweight champion" of France and suspended him from practicing his business in France for a period of three months. Only a few hours before the black conqueror of Georges Carpentier had stumbled into another block of hard luck, the British home office forbidding his scheduled fight with Joe Beckett to take place on British soil.

The action by the British authorities was taken because Siki is a colored man and Beckett is white, and it was deemed that "all sorts of passions would be aroused" if they met in the ring.

Gibbons Would Substitute
CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, has asked for a chance to take the place of Battling Siki against Joe Beckett, English heavyweight.

The Siki-Beckett match was set for December 1 in London, but was barred while the French boxing commission suspended Siki for nine months and took away his crown as light heavyweight champion because of his conduct at the Premier-Puize fight, when he struck Premier's manager.

Purcell was showing to advantage at halfback and goal, respectively.

Providence, which started out with a very evenly balanced team, has been handicapped in the past few days by the absence of Alexander, who is having difficulty holding his job and playing polo. If Alexander decides to quit polo a capable man will be secured by Manager Graham to replace him.

Asquith, another Lowell favorite of a few seasons ago, is playing halfback for Salem. Bouchard, who also played for a while in Lowell is a member of the club. Jette, formerly played with New Bedford.

OPPOSE POST-SEASON GAME
BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 10.—Members of the University of California football squad do not wish to participate in a post-season intercollegiate game of any sort, but if public sentiment forces such a contest, the team would rather meet Washington & Jefferson college than any other institution. Luther Nichols, California graduate manager, said today.

Wisconsin Will Fight to Retain Murry

TACKLES "JACK" MURRY, COACH RICHARDS

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 10.—Athletic relations between the universities of Wisconsin and Illinois are strained to the breaking point as the result of the protest by Illinois authorities because of the playing of Donald "Jack" Murry, right tackle on the Badger varsity eleven, on the Taylorville American Legion team.

The conference eligibility committee ruled Murry out of the Minnesota game last Saturday.

Coach John Richards, Wisconsin, retaliated on the same day by making a public statement that five men now on the Illinois squad, Allison, Auger, tackle; Green, Yates, Robinson and Durant, also had played on the Taylorville team.

Richards confessed his participation to Illinois authorities and was told to turn in his uniform at once. Director of Athletics George Huff, Illinois, is defending the other men, who declare themselves innocent of any charges of professionalism.

Coach Richards, meanwhile, is attempting to get Murry reinstated. "We won't sit back like kittens and permit him to be ruled out," he says. Murry declares he is innocent of professionalism. Taylorville is his home town, and he admits having played with the Taylorville team, but he was at that time not involved in any university and he did not receive money for playing, according to his story.

Coach Richards hopes to have Murry reinstated in time to play against Illinois in the Wisconsin homecoming game here next Saturday, Nov. 11.

Major John Griffith, "Big Tex" athletic commissioner, has refused to take a hand in the controversy, declaring that he has no jurisdiction over the case. The events involved occurred before last June 1, when he took his job of "Landis of the Western Conference."

ROLLER SKATING AT THE KASINO
Roller-skating, one of the most popular indoor sports of the winter season in Lowell and vicinity, had an auspicious opening last night at the Kasino, with one of the greatest attendances in the history of a "roller first night."

It was a picture to delight all lovers of the skating sport, and must be comforting to those promoters who are trying to provide clean, up-to-date and healthful sport for the lovers of roller-skating in Lowell during the cold months of the year.

The Kasino quarters were in fine shape for the opening. The floor is in tip-top condition and all arrangements for the daily reception of friends, old and new, was a happy occasion, too, for those who have skated since they were boys and girls, for some of the most enthusiastic fans last evening were glad to admit that they were "old-timers." It was a lively evening all evening, with the music happy and good and the crowds handled so that no one was inconvenienced.

The opening success is a good augury for the Kasino skating rink this season. The management is especially gratified to see the large crowds, and is anxious in the ideal sport, as the opening had not been advertised extensively.

Later on in the season there will be numerous special events to further increase interest in roller-skating, with champions coming to give notable exhibitions of skill on the "rolls," and other events. All attractions listed will be duly announced in proper season.

Skating sessions now continue regularly and patrons are requested to take advantage of the sport. The Kasino enjoys the programs provided by a management anxious simply to please everybody and maintain clean sport in Lowell through to the end of the season.

BABE RUTH TURNS OVER A NEW LEAF
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Babe Ruth has turned over a new leaf. The big hitter of the Yankees appeared before Col. T. L. Huston in the club offices in West 124 street yesterday afternoon on his return from his barnstorming trip through the west and announced the following platform for the winter campaign:

No vaudeville contracts.
No hunting trips.
No automobile.
No dallying with the bookmakers at the winter tracks.
None of this wine, women and song stuff.

Back to the farm is Ruth's motto. Tuesday he will start for the little home he owns at Statbury and will begin to chop trees. He means to give nothing but real work, and he means to keep at it all the winter.

"I wasn't satisfied with what I did last season," said the Babe.

"I agree with Col. Huston that my value to the team lies in my ability to hit home runs and I am going to show that I can beat my record if I get a full season in which to do it."

"We had a road trip through the west. We ran into a bad winter, and we played a game in Kansas City in a driving rain, but generally it was pretty good. I made 20 home runs in 17 games and Rob Beasey made 17."

Ruth appeared interested when told that the new Yankee ball park, where he will have to hit next spring, is far deeper in center field than the Polo grounds.

Asked about the prospects of the Yankees for next season, he said that the American league championship "ought to repeat."

HARMON GIVEN AWARD

Wins Decision Over Adair in Tame Bout—Foley Beats
Desrosiers in Great Battle

In a slow and unsatisfactory bout with Harmon of Brockton, who was edged the decision over Barney Adair of New York city in the main event of the Moody club show at the Crescent rink last night.

In justice to Harmon it must be said that he tried hard to make it a good fight, but the crafty Adair "knew" what to do and he and his manager, Galvin, after virtually even exchange, several times Harmon punched Adair away from him and out loose in vigorous fashion, but the referee, Harry Short, declared Adair was on the defensive practically all the way. Occasionally he flashed and uncorked a few vicious punches, one of which landed a beautiful "shiner" on Harmon's right eye.

As both boys are rated highly in amateur circles and are known to be classy exponents of the manly art, their exhibition proved a great disappointment, particularly as it followed one of the greatest scintillating and high level bouts of the club season. The small attendance indicated its disapproval by a chorus of "bored" at its conclusion.

Champions of Nashua and Haverhill, Foley of Boston were the principals in the semi-final and they put up one of the most hectic and satisfactory bouts ever seen in the city. Foley, an eight-year second with 124 one out in front and then the other. Time and again the pair stood in the center of the ring, trading punches that rocked and shook the spectators, but not once did either go to the floor. The third round will be recorded in local boxing circles as one of the best of the season on the books and the game and almost super-human stand taken by Foley in this vicious session will never be forgotten by those who saw it.

Desrosiers caught Foley a terrific blow on the jaw, a blow that would ordinarily knock out any man, but in Foley's case it was a "flop" and he fought back like a wildcat. Desrosiers stayed in there with him and for the remainder of the round the pair traded punches and the referee, who was seriously all the way and at the conclusion of the number the applause that went up indicated the appreciation of the fans in an uncertain manner.

In the preliminary Nick Maltona of Lexington knocked out Tommy Clayton of Boston in the first round and in the semi-final, Larry Maita, also of the Hub, in a six-round battle.

Mike Castle of Lawrence, who will meet Frank Murphy of Boston in the main event next week was introduced and he was cordially received.

John Cooper of Lawrence, refereed all the bouts and Frank Murphy of Lowell and John McDougall of Haverhill were the judges.

Doyle Beats Hout
LYNN, Nov. 10.—Paul Doyle of New York defeated Johnny Herman of Allentown, Penn., in a 10-round bout at the Casino last night.

In the semi-final, Buddy Clark of Salem defeated Johnny Herman of Allentown, Penn., in a 10-round bout.

Scotty Brewster of Lynn knocked out Ed Quinn of Brockton in the fifth round of a six-round bout.

Walker Signs for Bout
NEWARK, Nov. 10.—Maurice Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., who captured the welterweight boxing championship by defeating Jack Brille recently, signed a contract to defend his title in a New York athletic club to defend his title within three weeks in a Newark ring.

Promoters of the match will be permitted to name Walker's opponent, his manager announced.

Diggins Beats Quill
NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 10.—"Porkey" Diggins of Nashua received an eight-round decision over Frankie Quill of Brockton in the main bout of the Pastime A. C. show at the Nashua theatre last night.

The semifinal bout was declared no contest in the seventh round after Quill, who was fighting "Lefty" Williams of Lowell, had been warned twice.

Johnny Curtis Wins
PROVIDENCE, Nov. 10.—Irish Johnny Curtis of Jersey City won a six-round decision over Abe Friedman of Boston in the main bout of 12 rounds at the National A. C. last night.

PEACE OF EUROPE DEPENDS UPON AMERICA, SAYS CLEMENCEAU

"Tiger" on Eve of Departure for U. S. Declares an Entente Between America, England and France Basis of Peace in Europe—To Attempt to Make Americans Fully Aware of That Fact

PARIS, Nov. 9. (By the Associated Press.)—Former Premier Clemenceau, on the eve of his departure for the United States, declared today that the object of his trip would be "to create a state of mind in the United States which will permit in the future—I hope in the near future—negotiations between public bodies leading to understandings capable of producing results."

He added that he believed the peace of Europe was based upon friendly relations between America, England and France, and that his task would be to attempt to make the Americans fully aware of that fact.

Clemenceau's statement was given to Marcel Hutin of the Echo de Paris whose interviews with the former premier attracted wide attention during the war. Before reaching the silent points of his utterances, however, Clemenceau allowed his humor to make a play, as is his custom.

He explained that he was going to stay at the home of Charles Dana Gibson, "an American painter of great talent, but whom I do not know at all." He added: "It had been previously arranged for me to stay with my good friend, Bernard Baruch, who with Col. House, made the arrangements for my visit to America. Three days after my arrival I am to give my first lecture in the Metropolitan Opera House."

At this the interviewer allowed himself a broad smile, whereupon Clemenceau said: "I see what you mean, but don't be uneasy—I am not going to sing."

"I certainly am going to speak in English," he went on. "If I spoke in French, I would not be understood." When Hutin remarked that this point had been overlooked at the Washington conference, the former premier said it was deplorable that no French delegate at Washington spoke English, when every other delegation included men capable of using the language.

"I shall speak to the American public as a man sure of being heard," he declared, "and I feel confident I shall be understood."

"Sky-scrapers Too Low"

To a query as to what he was going to say to the American reporters when asked for his opinion of New York's skyscrapers, he said:

"Not bad, but too low—still too far from the moon."

Clemenceau repeated that he was going without an official mission. "A mission," he said, "would only weaken my task. I am going to eradicate the idea that France is militaristic and imperialistic."

"They say we have a military budget of about 5,000,000,000 francs. I do not know if that figure is correct or exaggerated, but I do know that I have seen two German invasions and that I do not want to try a third. And I eagerly wish our friends over there to understand this feeling."

Clemenceau gave the motive underlying his visit in reply to Hutin's observation that a man of his age would not undertake in the depths of winter the worries and fatigue of such a trip without feeling content that his country would benefit thereby.

The former premier said: "I consider an entente between America, England and France the basis of peace in Europe. My task is to make the Americans understand that, and if I fail, I shall at least have the satisfaction of having tried."

At another point, he said: "I shall certainly present my respects to President Harding and visit Hughes and Wilson."

That he will be available for next year's squad when he will again be out on the chalk lines fighting as hard as ever.

During his lengthy stay in the Concord hospital, periodical visits to his bedside were made by various members of the L.L.S. team and also by students of the Concord high school, with whom he became a great favorite because of his patient and uncomplaining attitude in the midst of suffering.

TURKS OUT TO KILL CHRISTIANS

Former Ambassador Morgenthau Challenges Statements to the Contrary

Says U. S. Acceptance of Turkish Mandate Would Have Prevented Crisis

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 9.—Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, declared in an address here today that acceptance by the United States of the Turkish mandate would have prevented the Near Eastern crisis and would have resulted in such progress by all the countries bordering on the Mediterranean that it would have had a corresponding influence on surrounding countries. He said that the Turkish victory of the Greeks was due more to weakness and folly of the Greeks than to Turkish fighting ability. He praised the part Great Britain has taken and said that civilization is going to be saved because Britain has planned better than she knew.

He challenged statements that the Turks are not out to kill the Christians within their domains. This purpose was restrained in the World war, he said, through realization that their allies, the Germans and Austrians, were Christian but today the Turks have no Christian allies to restrain them.

MORE HARD LUCK FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Lowell high encountered more hard luck yesterday when Spencer Sullivan, tackle on the football team, received a severe elbow bruise during a stiff scrimmage at Spaulding park, which will cause his absence from the lineup in the big game with Haverhill Saturday. It was at first thought that Sullivan's arm had been broken, but examination revealed a serious strain, which will be treated as capably as possible. Sullivan's appearance in the later season games will be kept by him, but through some what later, and through considerable experience in the position.

The Haverhill game is always one of the biggest on the local school's schedule, and as the down-river team has a record of 35 consecutive wins to its credit, Lowell will try harder than ever to puncture their goal line. It is 12 years since Lowell defeated a victory against Haverhill, but this year the chances for a win are the best in years. Contrary to general opinion, Haverhill carried Lowell only 31 pounds, according to statistics. The lines are about even with the Haverhillites having a slight advantage in the back field. If Lowell wins, Coach Jimmy Liston, who has worked very hard for the success of the team, will be vindicated in his assertion that Lowell has a good team, but has not been getting the breaks, essential to victory.
